FIRST EDITION.

MIDNIGHT.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Currency Issued Last Week.

Test Case in the Supreme Court.

Writs of Error in Confiscation Cases.

Suit Against Secretary Stanton.

Revised Army Regulations.

Soldiers Bounty Warrants.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21, 1867.

FINANCIAL.

Fractional currency issued during the week, $639,500; amount forwarded, $458,694. National Bank notes issued, $145,350. Fractional currency destroyed, $264,600.

HOLIDAY OBSERVANCE.

General Grant has ordered the closing of the War Department and Bureau on Christmas and New Year, and fixed the office hours for the intervening week from nine to twelve o'clock, and allowed half the clerks to be absent.

MILITARY GAZETTE.

Lieutenant J. L. Kirkman, 26th Infantry, has been relieved from the recruiting service. Brevet Maj. Gen. J. H. Wilson, Lieut. Col. 35th Volunteers, has been ordered to report to the General-in-Chief.

TEST CASE IN SUPREME COURT.

J. H. Sullivan arrived yesterday from Louisiana, and is understood to be preparing for an argument in a test case to be heard in the Supreme Court, which will involve all the issues raised by reason of military orders issued in the South since 1861. Eminent counsel from both North and South are in communication with him, and the issue will be thoroughly examined.

CONFISCATION CASES.

Writs of error were this morning granted by Justice Wylie, of the Supreme Court of the District, in two cases of confiscation, in which judgment was given by the District Court here in 1863. Caleb Cushing is counsel for the complainants. The cases will be tried next January at the general term.

CASE AGAINST SECRETARY STANTON.

In the Supreme Court of the District to-day, the case of Smithson against Edwin M. Stanton, for alleged false imprisonment, was to have been tried before Justice Wylie, but at the request of counsel was postponed for a few days. Among the counsel for Stanton are Attorney General Stanbery, Jas. T. Brady and Judge Pierrepont, of New York.

NEW ARMY REGULATIONS.

Lieutenant General Sherman, Major General Sheridan and Brevet Major General Augur have been appointed by the Secretary of War as a board to examine the proposed system of revised army regulations. The board meets in this city next week to begin its labors.

INDIAN DELEGATIONS.

About the first of January several delegations of Indians from the far West are expected to arrive here, for the purpose of consultation and making treaties with the Indian Bureau.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY CLAIMS.

The Select Committee for the examination of cases of delay in the payment of soldiers' bounty warrants will probably report a bill authorizing the employment of twenty-five additional clerks and the issue of duplicate bounty warrants, so that when the originals are lost, from any cause, soldiers will not suffer delay until new ones can be made out.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

The receipts of Internal Revenue for the past week were not quite two millions, and for the fiscal year, commencing with June last, to date, ninety-six millions.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22, 1867.

THE MEXICAN LEGATION.

The Secretary of State learns from Mexico that the Mexican government has felt obliged, though with great reluctance, to grant leave of absence to Mr. Marascal, their Charge d' Affairs here. The sole cause for this leave of absence, which, under the circumstances, produces a temporary suspension of the Mexican legation, is the domestic situation of Mr. Marascal. The State Department is assured that a full Minister will soon be sent to the United States.

THE WAR IN CRETE.

Accounts from Crete are of a stirring character. The Turks at Dealiscari fired upon a company of five hundred women and children who were on the eve of embarking for Greece. A number of them were killed, and those who escaped were picked up by the commander of a Russian man-of-war and safely landed at Periansa. All the Christian powers, excepting the United States and Great Britain, unite in placing their ships at the disposal of those who wish to escape from Crete to Greece.

SALE OF PUBLIC LANDS.

The House Committee on Public Lands have agreed to report a bill forbidding all further sale of Public Lands, excepting as provided for by the Preemption and Homestead laws. The design is to prevent future speculation in public domain and secure the settlement and actual tillage of every tract of land hereafter disposed of by the government.

FREEDMEN IN LOUISIANA.

The Assistant Commissioner for Louisiana reports to the Freedmen's Bureau that the number of laborers of all classes, male and female, is stated to be 294,000, and aged and helpless of both sexes 196,000, in that State.

NEW YORK.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 21, 1867.

ARRIVAL OF VESSELS.

The Colombian gunboat, Colombia, arrived to-day from Aspinwall via New Orleans. The steamer Caledonia, from Glasgow, arrived. The Arizona, from Aspinwall, brought $1,999,856 in treasure. News anticipated.

CASE SETTLED.

The celebrated Peterson abandonment case has been settled, the Court deciding that Mrs. Peterson was mistaken in the man she supposed to be her husband.

TELEGRAPH ARRANGEMENT CANCELED.

The official papers terminating the Russian extension were executed December 16th, the Russian Government by its minister, Baron Stoeckle, and the Western Union Telegraph Company, by its officers, mutually releasing each other from engagements into which they had entered to secure European telegraphic communication by the Pacific coast and Russian empire.

NEW YORK, December 22, 1867.

STEAMERS LIBELLED.

On Friday and yesterday libels were filed in the United States District Court against the steamers Saxonia, Hibernia, Siberia, City of Washington, City of Baltimore, Nebraska, and Brittania, of European lines, for alleged violations of the passenger act in the improper construction of berths. Bonds no doubt will be given on the part of these steamers as soon as they have arrived in port.

ARRIVED.

The steamship Hermann, from Bremen December 7th, and Southampton 10th, arrived to-day.

ANOTHER RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BOSTON, Dec. 21.—The passenger train from South Bridge for Boston, on the Erie and Hartford Railroad, was thrown off the track to-day by a broken rail. One car was turned upon its side and badly stove. Several passengers suffered bruises—none seriously injured.

River Items.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, December 21.—The river is falling with scant five feet by the canal mark.

MEMPHIS, December 21.—The river is falling with five and a half feet water in the channel.

[By Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

OIL CITY, Dec. 22.—The ice is moving in the creek, and is expected to go out in the river to-night. Weather clear and warm. River rising.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

—A gold nugget weighing five hundred ounces is reported to have been found at Sandhurst, Australia.

—A negro man, his wife, mother and children were recently murdered in Baldwin county, Alabama.

—Another of the machine shops of A. and W. Sprague in Augusta, Maine, was burned on Saturday forenoon. Loss large.

—Orders have been received at the Boston Navy Yard to discharge thirty per cent. of the force of employees in the mechanical department.

—A dispatch of over six thousand words was received at Washington on Saturday, from San Francisco, urging Congress to ratify the pending treaty with the Sandwich Islands.

—Many of the employees at the Washington Iron Works, Newburg, were discharged on Thursday. Quite a number were discharged before, and wages were reduced. Further reductions are anticipated.

—It is understood that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue is opposed to a reduction of the tax on whiskey, and is of the opinion that any tax, no matter how high or low, can be collected with the proper officers.

—A Montgomery (Ala.) dispatch says a Freedmen's bureau officer, who was trying to collect a dollar and a half apiece from negroes whose contracts he had approved in Alabama, was recently tarred and varnished by negroes.

—The Georgia Reconstruction Convention met on Saturday morning and immediately adjourned over to Monday. It was rumored the Committee of One, which had been sent to Milledgeville to draw money, has telegraphed there is no money there.

—A destructive fire broke out in the village of Chateaugay, Franklin county, New York, Saturday night, burning stores occupied by John Hughes, Hall & Childs, and A. H. Miller, and the dwellings of R. McClean and Dr. George Howe. Loss $25,000; insured for $15,000.

—A bank which was being undermined at an ore bed at South Shaftsburg, Vermont, caved in on Thursday last, falling about forty feet and burying a number of men and two horses. At last accounts three dead bodies had been taken out and several persons who were seriously injured.

—The factories and mills at Trenton, New Jersey, have recently discharged many operatives, and more than two hundred and fifty families are dependent upon the Poor Department of the city. Influential citizens have organized means for the relief of the poor.

—Intelligence from the West Indies to the 13th inst. represents that the people of Tortola are suffering greater privation than those of St. Thomas. The dead lie unburied and pestilence was threatened, only to be avoided by burning the corpses. Most of the inhabitants were entirely without food.

—Detachments of military were sent from Montgomery and Mobile, on Friday, to the scene of the murder, by unknown parties, of several freedmen below Collard, on the Mobile road. The murders were entirely unprovoked. Daniel Wilson, late Register in Choctaw, Ala., has been arrested there for the murder of freedmen.

—The M. S. and L. I. Co.'s grain elevator in Toledo, Ohio, was destroyed by fire Saturday night. About eighty thousand bushels of grain, mostly wheat, was consumed with it. Loss, three hundred thousand dollars, on which there is an insurance of two hundred and eight thousand, nearly all in New England companies.

—The Supreme Court of New York has rendered a decision in the Gardner-Tyler will case, setting aside the verdict of the jury at Staten Island, and ordering a new trial, the costs to abide the event, if the decision is in favor of Mrs. Tyler, and from it it appears that the finding of the Staten Island jury was not justified by the evidence.

—The House Naval Committee unanimously passed a resolution requesting the Secretary of the Navy not to make the contemplated removals in the Navy Yards in the United States in January, but to postpone action on the subject for the next sixty days. This was done with a view to mitigate as much as possible the distress at present existing among the artisans and laboring classes.

—A Montgomery (Ala.) dispatch to the New York Telegram says the Gadsen (Bain county) Times says Judge Hamlin has received orders from military authority to proceed in the performance of his duties, without regard to the ordinance abolishing Blain county, until the ratification of the Constitution. Gen. Pope will not recognize the ordinance passed by the late Convention as valid until the Constitution shall be ratified.

ALABAMA.

Trial of a Negro Conspirator—He is Reported to Have Escaped from Prison—Capture of a Negro Murderer—Sentence of Maj. Horton at Mobile

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MONTGOMERY, December 21.—The Columbus Inquirer says: "The trial of the negro conspirator and revolutionist Geo. Shorter, at Union Springs, Ala., resulted in his conviction and sentence to jail for six months. On the trial the material facts heretofore published about his organization of a negro government in Bullock county were produced. The report that he claims to have been sent to do this work by Radicals in the Northwestern States is confirmed. But by the timely discovery of the secret organization, and active and energetic measures adopted to break it up, it would doubtless have extended among the ignorant blacks and produced a great deal of mischief.

"It was reported in Union Springs, early yesterday morning, that Shorter had broken out of jail and escaped. Whether he effected his escape unaided, or was assisted by negroes belonging to his so-called government, we could not learn. The negroes generally, as heretofore stated, were much incensed against them."

The Greenville Advocate says: "The negro who a few days ago shot a woman because she refused to marry him was apprehended yesterday by several of his own color, who had sworn vengeance for the wicked deed he had done. He was armed and showed pluck, and it was not until he was severely wounded by a gun shot (which will in all probability prove fatal) that he was made prisoner."

MOBILE, Dec. 21.—Maj. Horton was to-day sentenced by Judge Busteed. The Judge said: "Mr. Horton—By a jury of your peers, acquaintances and townsmen, selected by yourself from an entire panel, you have been tried upon an indictment of the Grand Jury and found guilty of the offences laid to your charge. It now becomes my duty to pronounce the sentence of the law upon your conviction. The indictment contains two counts, one for an occurrence on the 8th of August, and the other 11th of August, 1867. Each of these transactions embraces an offense which would send a citizen of the State into exile. The government might have had additional counts, embracing other charges against you for the violation of the civil rights statute, but the indictment is framed upon these two. On this conviction you might be sent to the State prison for two years, and be fined two thousand dollars, in the discretion of this Court. Its discretion upon this behalf must be exercised in view of its responsibilities to God and man. I am of the opinion that the ends of justice and rights of citizens have been vindicated in your conviction, and that to imprison you would not add to its moral effect. The sentence of the Court is that you pay a fine of two thousand dollars."

A short time after the adjournment of the Court Horton paid the fine and was discharged from custody.

BY CUBA CABLE.

Sale of Samana—Reported Capture by Cabral of the Capital of Hayti—American Consul Insulted—New Captain General Arrived.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, Dec. 21.—An envoy has been sent to the United States Government by Dominican authorities, probably in relation to the sale or lease of Samana.

It was reported at Port au Prince that the Capital of Hayti had surrendered to Cabral.

The finances of Jamaica were much depressed. A deficiency of fifty thousand pounds sterling was to be made up by additional duties.

A negro insulted American Consul Gregg, by striking him in a billiard saloon, but Mr. Gregg summarily chastised his black aggressor.

General Lersundi, the new Captain General of Cuba, arrived at Havana yesterday, and was received with a cordial demonstration of welcome.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FENIANS.

LONDON, December 21.—The Government is still taking precautionary measures to guard against expected movements of the Fenians. The troops that were yesterday sent to Portsmouth were to-day sent to Osborne, Isle of Wight.

FENIAN PLANS KNOWN.

LONDON, December 22.—The London Observer, in its issue of Saturday, says that the British Government, in all the extraordinary precautions which it is now taking against the Fenians, is acting with a full knowledge of their secret plans. The alarm caused by the Fenians in the city is subsiding.

TRADE WITH JAPAN.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Advices from Japan announce that in accordance with the treaty concluded with the Commissioners of Foreign Powers, the ports of Yeddo and Osaka will be thrown open to foreigners for settlement and commerce on the 29th of January.

FRANCE.

ARMY RE-ORGANIZATION BILL.

PARIS, December 22.—The bill for the re-organization of the army, which has been under discussion for the past week in the Senate, was introduced in the Corps Legislatiff by M. Gressier, and was debated during the sitting yesterday. M. Gressier, in reporting the bill, made a lengthy speech explaining its features and defending the character of the measure. He denied that it was a preparation for an early war, because in reality it would operate to reduce the present effective force of the army. He insisted the measure was intended only as a wise provision for the necessities of the future.

M. Rouher, Minister of State, also spoke in support of the bill. He strongly protested against the opinion which had been expressed that the introduction of the bill looked to a war with foreign powers, and declared that the bill was not proposed by the Government as a temporary expedient, to meet an immediate contingency, but as a permanent measure, to improve the organization and promote the general efficiency of the military forces of the Empire.

M. Jules Favre made a powerful speech in opposition to the bill. Toward the close of the sitting a vote was taken and the Ministry was sustained by a majority of the Chamber.

ITALY.

THE ROMAN QUESTION—THE MINISTRY DEFEATED.

FLORENCE, Dec. 22.—The long and angry debate in the Chamber of Deputies, on the policy of the government in the Roman question, terminated yesterday. In the final vote taken the Ministry was defeated by a majority of two. The announcement of the result was received by the opposition with loud cheering.

AUSTRIA.

NEW CONSTITUTION PROMULGATED.

VIENNA, Dec. 22.—The new Constitution of Austria, which was recently passed by Reichrath, has been promulgated throughout the Empire by imperial decree.

MARINE NEWS.

QUEENSTOWN, December 22.—The royal mail steamship Persia, from New York on the 11th inst., arrived at this port to-day, and sailed for Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, December 22.—A dispatch from Lisbon reports the American bark Palermo, from New Orleans October 25th, for Vigo, Spain, ashore on the coast of Portugal, near Avero.

FRANKFORT, December 22.—U. S. bonds 77½, issue of 1862.

FOREIGN NEWS BY STEAMER.

The Roman Question—Garibaldi Still at Caprera—Hostilities Resumed in Candia.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, December 22.—By the arrival of the steamship Hermann from Southampton, December 10th, details and news three days later have been received.

The Le Etendard says: Our correspondent at Rome continues to believe in the imminence of a new attack against the Holy See.

The La France says: There is a discussion in the Ministry, in consequence of the declaration made by M. Rouher.

The Moniteur Du Soir, in reference to the speech of M. de Moustier, says: The Senate recognized with M. de Moustier that the position of the Government on the Roman question is one of moderation, at once vigilant and firm. The order of the day was adopted in testimony to the confidence in the policy of the Emperor and approbation of the acts and language of the Minister to whom is entrusted the honor of carrying it into execution. The speeches of M. de Moustier and Rouher in the French Senate on the Roman question have naturally aroused the susceptibilities of the Italian legislators, and accordingly both in the Senate and Deputies General Menabrea has been asked what attitude the government would assume on the Roman question, at the same time being informed that the Parliament was ready to support the government in claiming Rome for Italy. General Menabrea explained to the Senate the policy of the government and agreed to the following resolution, which was adopted unanimously as the order of the day: The Senate considering the declaration of the Ministry, and that of the Government, will manfully maintain the rights and dignity of the nation, and hasten to its legitimate completion.

Sales of ecclesiastical property from the 15th of August to the 6th of December have realized the sum of 30,802,988 francs, or 8,425,220 francs in excess of its official valuation.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 7.—Intelligence published here announces that hostilities have again broken out in Candia, and Turkish reinforcements had been sent thither, armed with breech loaders, in consequence of representations made to the Russian Consul that Russian vessels had resumed taking away fugitives from the island. It is also stated the Viceroy of Egypt refused to pay the tribute due to the Porte, requiring that the latter should take into account the cost incurred by Egypt in sending troops to Crete.

Memorial of Cotton Factors for Government Aid.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHARLESTON, December 22.—A memorial is in circulation among the leading cotton factors here, praying Congress, in view of the prostrate condition of planting interests, to make an appropriation to assist the factors in making advances to planters.

THE LAKE SHORE ACCIDENT.

Further Identifications — Preparations for the Burial of the Dead.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BUFFALO, Dec. 21.—E. T. Mattison, of Auburn, N. Y., supposed to have been burned at the recent railroad accident, is alive and well. The dead body supposed to be that of Norman Woohls has been identified as that of Norman Nichols, place of residence unknown. Eighteen charred skeletons are still unrecognized. Great preparation is made for the public funeral to-morrow afternoon. All clergymen in the city and choirs of the different churches will assemble at the Central depot to participate in the solemn services. The Mayor and members of the City Councils of Buffalo will act as pall bearers.

THE FUNERAL CEREMONIES.

BUFFALO, Dec. 22.—An immense crowd filled the large central depot on Exchange street this afternoon, to witness the funeral ceremonies of the unclaimed charred remains of the victims of the railroad disaster at Angola. A large platform, one hundred feet in length by twenty feet, draped in mourning, was erected on the south side of the depot. On this were placed seats for the accommodation of those to occupy it, and a large melodeon to aid in singing. Nineteen boxes, containing the remains, were placed on either side of the desk erected for the clergy. The stand at two o'clock precisely was occupied by the city clergy, Mayor and City Councils, the railroad officials and choirs of the different churches. Fully eight thousand spectators stood in front and around the platform. The services were conducted in the most impressive manner.

At the close of the ceremonies in the depot a procession was formed in the following order: Detachment of police; Mayor and Common Council of Buffalo; clergy in carriages; wagons of American Express Company draped in mourning, drawn by four bay horses and flanked on either side by pall bearers, containing the remains; thirteen carriages containing the railroad officers and citizens. The procession was flanked by the police and proceeded to St. Paul's Cathedral, where the bodies were deposited in a vault under the cathedral, Rev. Dr. Shelton, rector of St. Paul's, reading the funeral service of the Episcopal Church. The streets were lined with people as the procession moved slowly along. Had the weather been more favorable the crowd would have been greater.

Inquiries for friends are still being made, and relics are being found. The gold lever watch marked No. 1042 bore the inscription "Presented to Joseph Abelt by A. T. Norton," and not A. T. Johnson, as previously reported. A ring marked "C. L." was found on a charred body, and is supposed to belong to Charles Lobdell, assistant editor of the Lacrosse (Wis.) Democrat, who, it is thought, was on the train.

Witnesses for the Coroner's inquest have all been subpœnaed, and the testimony will commence being taken to-morrow.

The body of Herman Nichols, an unknown woman and child, and an unknown man, are still retained for identification.

MISSISSIPPI.

Starving Freedmen in Mississippi—Gen. Ord Sends a Commissioner to Washington—Freedmen Required to Work on Pain of Arrest for Vagrancy.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, December 22.—General Ord has issued the following order, to-wit:

Headquarters Fourth Military District, Mississippi and Arkansas, Holly Springs Miss., December 19th, 1867. Special Order No. 208. Extract. Brevet Major General Adam C. Gillem, Colonel of the Twenty fourth United States Infantry, Assistant Commissioner of the Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen and Abandoned Lands for the State of Mississippi, will proceed to Washington, D. C., and represent to the President and Secretary of War the starving condition of the freedmen in a large number of the counties in his sub-district, due to the ruin and bankruptcy of cotton planters and the absence of corn, or the means to buy it. He will report the absolute necessity of some provision being made by the Government to feed the armed freedmen and avert a war of races in such sections as are without food. Gen. Gillem will take with him such reports and letters on file as bear on this subject.

By command of Brevet Major General Ord.

[Signed,] O. D. GREEN, A. A. G.

He also issued, on the 17th inst., the following important order:

Commanding officers are directed to notify the leading colored men and take such other measures as may be necessary to give general publication of the fact that all Freedmen who are able will be required to earn their support during the coming year, and to go to work upon the best terms that can be procured, even should it furnish a support only, and thus prevent their becoming a burden to the government. All Freedmen who can, but will not, earn a livelihood, when employment can be procured, will lay themselves liable to arrest and punishment as vagrants. The co-operation of sheriffs, constables and police magistrates is requested in the enforcement of this order, and any just action of theirs under its provisions will be sustained by the military authorities.

TENNESSEE.

A Stormy Convention of Radicals—A Knock Down between Candidates—Arrest of Deserters—Fire.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, December 21.—The Radical Judicial Convention held here to-day was one of the most stormy political meetings ever held in Tennessee. Nearly two thousand negroes were present and the Convention, after adjourning from the Court House to the Capitol, broke up in confusion, without making a nomination for Attorney General. H. H. Harrison was nominated for Chancellor, John Hue Smith for Criminal Court Judge, and Eugene Corry for Circuit Court Judge. While Corry was speaking he was knocked down by Judge M. M. Brien, an opposing candidate in the Convention and present Circuit Judge. Both were arrested. Correy is a Northern man.

Two deserters, captured at the St. Charles Hotel last night, made a desperate resistance. One was seriously wounded with a bayonet and sabre.

NASHVILLE, December 21.—The residence of Prof. Jones, of the Nashville Medical College, Church street, was burned this morning at four o'clock. It was owned by N. B. Alloway and embraced two stores, one occupied by Crane & Co., dry goods merchants, the other by Mrs. Higbee, milliner. The residence was badly damaged; insured for $3,500. Prof. Jones lost his furniture, papers and valuable library. A. Nelson lost many valuable papers. Crane & Co were insured for $5,000; damage heavy

PANAMA.

The Slaughter of Confederate Officers—Mosquera Gone to Peru.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, December 22.—The Times' Panama letter says: "I learn by private advices from Carthagena that Mr. Seward having demanded in positive terms that the officers and others engaged in the massacre of confederate officers in the streets of that city should be punished, several military officers concerned voluntarily surrendered to the civil authorities and are now nominally prisoners. From investigations already made no doubt the civil as well as the military authorities either connived at the massacre or were privy to the fact that it was to take place."

The Herald's Panama letter says Mosquera sailed for Peru. The guard which accompanied him to Panama still remained there, much to the discomfort of President Olarte. General Salgar had published a pamphlet defending his operations in the purchase of the R. R. Cuyler.

Quito correspondence of November 15th says the approaching election for the Presidency was the main topic. Dr. Erping seemed to be the favorite candidate.

GEORGIA.

No Funds for the Convention Members.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ATLANTA, December 22.—The Commissioner sent to Milledgeville by the Convention to draw $40,000 from the State Treasury to pay its expenses returned this morning and reports no funds. The State Treasurer said he was bonded not to pay out any public moneys except on a warrant signed by the Governor. The Commissioner made no application to Gov. Jenkins. The Finance Committee has failed to negotiate a loan for Convention expenses with capitalists.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Another Railroad Accident

An accident occurred at Mansfield Station, on the Pan Handle Railroad, Saturday morning about eleven o'clock, by which two men, brakemen on the train, were seriously injured. The regular freight train which left this city Saturday morning for Cincinnati, in rounding a curve a short distance from Mansfield, collided with a coal train which was coming in the opposite direction on the same track. The trains were both running at a usual rate of speed, and as soon as they came in sight of each other both engines whistled "down breaks" and the engines were reversed, but it was too late to avoid a collision. Both locomotives were partially demolished, and several coal cars destroyed. The engineers and firemen of both trains, seeing the danger, jumped from their engines and escaped with a few slight bruises, but two of the brakemen, who were at the hind end of the train, John Ferst and another whose name we did not learn, were injured. Ferst had his right leg caught between two of the cars and badly crushed, and the other man was seriously injured in the spine. Drs. McCook and Umbstaetter were taken to the scene of the disaster on a special train and attended to the injured men. Ferst was removed to his residence in the Ninth ward and the other man was taken to Mansfield. We were unable to ascertain how the trains happened to meet, or which one of them was out of time, but it was evidently the result of gross carelessness on the part of some one, as one train must have been running on the other's time.

Policeman Stabbed.

A cutting affray occurred at Miller's Hall, Oakland, Friday night, in which officer Little received a severe wound in the groin. A ball was given at the Hall above mentioned, on Friday night, and officers Wilmot and Little had been engaged to keep order. It appears that Wilmot received an anonymous note, early Friday evening, recommending him not to attend the ball, and giving as a reason for the advice, that he and Little would both be murdered if they attended. Wilmot, we are informed, took the advice, and endeavored to see Little and if possible keep him from going. He failed to see Little, however, who, knowing nothing of the note, went to the ball, where, about midnight, a fight occurred between a Michael Brierdon and another man. Little interfered to stop the fight, when Brierdon drew a dirk knife from his pocket and cut him, as stated above. Dr. Foster was called and dressed Little's wound, who was afterward removed to his home in the Sixth ward. Information was made before Alderman Lindsay, charging Brierdon with felonious assault and battery. The accused was arrested and committed to jail.

Little's wound is not considered dangerous, and it is thought he will be able to attend to his duties in a few days.

Fire in the Sixth Ward.

Saturday evening, about seven o'clock, a fire broke out in the carpenter shop of Mr. M. L. Malone, on Washington street opposite the Fort Pitt Glass Works. The alarm was sounded, and by the prompt appearance of the steamers, and the efforts of the firemen, the flames were subdued before much damage was done. The loss will probably reach $1,500, on which there is an insurance of $700 in the Artisan. Mr. Malone was contractor for the carpenter work in the new building of Reineman, Meyran & Seidle, on Fifth street, which was partially destroyed by fire a few days since, and had in his shop a quantity of unfinished work for the building, which, in addition to being a heavy loss on him, will put him under great inconvenience to replace it. Several tool chests, with the contents, were destroyed. About ten o'clock in the evening, after the fire, Mr. M. visited the ruins, when he discovered a man on a shed adjoining the building, whom he had arrested. The man gave his name as John Smith, and said he was looking for a man and woman he thought had entered the building. He was taken to the lock-up and kept until yesterday morning, when he was discharged.

False Pretence.

Dr. J. A. Herron made information before Alderman Humbert, on Saturday, against W. W. Foster, for obtaining medicines and medical service under false pretence. The Doctor alleges the defendant represented to him that his father who resides in Baltimore was wealthy, and would settle the bill. Under these representations he was induced to render the service, and it appears forwarded his bill to the father at Baltimore, who respectfully but emphatically declined to pay it. The Doctor doubtless has been victimized to the amount of service rendered, but unless something more serious transpires than is alleged in the information the prosecution will not "hold water," and in addition to loosing the bill, the grand jury will doubtless impose the costs of the case on him if it is brought before them. The defendant was arrested and held for a hearing.

Abused his Wife.

Mrs. Flora Taylor, a resident of West Deer township, aged about sixty-five years, made information before Alderman McMasters yesterday, against her husband, Allen Taylor, for assault and battery and surety of the peace. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, it appears from her statement, have been married and lived together for over forty years, and have raised a family of children who are all married, leaving the old folks to themselves. Lately, it is alleged, Mr. Taylor has become addicted to strong drink and when intoxicated is abusive and vicious toward his wife. Friday evening she alleges he caught her by the hair and dragged her out of doors, and threatened to kill her. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

The Other Side.

We published Saturday an account of an attempted outrage on Grant street in which William Price, a colored man, who keeps a saloon opposite the St. Nicholas Hotel, was charged with assault and battery with intent to commit rape on the person of Anna McKenna, the prosecutrix. There appears to be another side to the affair, as will appear from the following statement made by Price before Alderman McMasters, in an information against her for assault and battery with intent to kill: He alleges that in assisting her to kindle a fire he accidentally struck her a slight blow with his hand, when she assaulted him with a hatchet with which she struck him on the head two or three times, cutting him severely, after which she went and made information against him, as stated above. Anna was arrested and committed to jail in default of the required bail for her appearance at Court.

Allegheny Valley Railroad.

The Allegheny Valley Railroad will be opened for travel through to Oil City to-day. The passenger trains will run as follows: The mail train will leave at 7:30 A. M. and arrive at Oil City at 3 P. M.; returning, it will leave Oil City at 5 P. M. and arrive at Pittsburgh at midnight. The Express will leave here at 10:30 P. M. and arrive at Oil City at 5:45 A. M.; returning, it will leave Oil City at 10:30 A. M. and arrive at Pittsburgh at 5:45 P. M. The formal opening will take place January 8, 1868.

Sudden Death.—Ann Kendrick, aged sixty years, residing at 139 Mulberry alley, was found dead on the floor of her room yesterday morning. She went to her bed about nine o'clock Saturday evening as well as usual, and when found, about six o'clock the next morning, was cold. She had evidently been dead several hours. Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest on the body. A verdict of "death from apoplexy" was rendered.

Mr. Wm. E. Hutchinson, publisher of the Ebensburg [Pa.] Alleghenian, died at his residence, last Thursday, after a long illness. The deceased was widely known as a young man of rare business qualifications and enterprise, and will be mourned by a large circle of warm friends and admirers. His brother, J. Todd Hutchinson, Esq., at present editor of the Alleghenian, will continue its publication.

Acknowledgment.—We have received from John W. Pittock, opposite the Postoffice, "Frank Leslie's Lady's Magazine" for January, "Harper's Bazar" for January, and the January number of the "Riverside Magazine," for young people, all of which are more than usually interesting, and for which Mr. P. has our thanks.

The boat stores on the wharf were open to business yesterday owing to the rise in the Monongahela river.

A Word About Present Making.

The educated and intellectual mind need not be told that the most appropriate and fitting testimonial of love, regard and friendship to bestow on either young or old, relatives or friends, is a volume or set of volumes of the literary labors of some of the standard authors, poets or scholars. We have watched with interest how some old book on the library shelves has been cherished by the owner and made occupy the highest post of honor, simply because it was the gift of a dear friend. Parents act wisely who ignore tawdry toys in their selection of presents and make choice of a desirable book, with which to mark the holiday era on the memory of their son or daughter. In itself the neat and pretty volume, fresh from the hands of the publisher, with its clean pages kissing and clinging to each other, will please the fancy and fill the soul with gratitude to the giver. But with the first thrill of joy on the reception of the gift will not pass away all the effects of such a present, for the true value of the gift is to be drawn out of the perusal of the sentences, the paragraphs, the pages and the chapters which follow each other in pleasing succession to the end. The mind is thus enriched while the desire of the recipient is filled. We might sermonize on this subject and elaborate on ideas which cluster about the appropriate present of a book during the Christmas holidays, but we conceive that all our readers fully agree that nothing more suitable could be procured. In our rambles among the GAZETTE advertisers on Saturday we called at the beautiful store rooms of that sterling representative book firm of Western Pennsylvania, Messrs. Kay & Co., No. 65 Wood street. Perhaps no where else in the country can there be found such an elegant assortment of publications suitable for Christmas presents. The stock has been bought by the buyers of the firm, whose thorough literary knowledge of all books render them especially, capable for this important task, with rare care and judgment, and embraces not only all the works of standard authors, but the more worthy books which represent the current literature of the day. In their neat cases we found systematically arranged thousands on thousands of volumes, ranging in value from one dollar up to one hundred dollars, and presenting fair illustration of the perfection attained in the art typographic. All tastes in literature have been consulted in the selection of this splendid stock, and desirable books are presented in so many different dresses as to place them within the reach of all at either high or low prices. The collection of presentation books, purchased expressly for the holiday trade, and made just now a leading specialty, is remarkably fine, embracing some of the richest and most elaborately bound volumes we have ever examined. Nor have the children been forgotten, for a large assortment of works by the best writers for youth and pictorial juvenile books grace the shelves, being as complete a stock of publications in this line as has ever been opened in the city. We feel that it is unnecessary to enumerate the works offered the wholesale and retail patrons of this justly popular house, or to speak of the various acceptable editions of the poets, the substantial and durable family bibles, the chaste offerings of authors who labor for the elevation of mankind, or those who wrote to amuse, instruct and enrich the youthful mind, for the firm have long occupied a first place in the estimation of the public, and the excellence of their stock is proverbial. Full lines of portfolios, writing desks, plain and fancy stationery, and all goods peculiar to their line of trade, will be found exhibited among their holiday offerings, and we bespeak for the firm a full share of the Christmas trade.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Marietta Ravel makes her first appearance at the Opera House this evening. She enjoys a high reputation as an actress, and doubtless will draw crowded houses during her engagement here. "The French Spy; or the Fall of Algiers," will be presented.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The greatest panoramic exhibition of the age will be given at the Academy of Music during the present week, commencing this evening. The Great Original Miltonian Tableaux, from London, is perhaps the most imposing spectacle ever witnessed in this city, and it will doubtless draw crowded houses during the week.

ORPHANS' FAIR.—The Orphans' Fair, now being held in the basement of the Cathedral, bids fair to be a complete success; so far, at least, it has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the managers. It is a delightful place to spend an evening.

CITY HALL.—The Universalist Fair at City Hall continues to be the place of attraction. The tastefully decorated Hall and the ever genial and pleasant faces of the ladies who preside at the various booths, as well as in the refreshment department, are sufficient to attract visitors, yet there are still other attractions, among which is the promenade during the evening from ten to twelve o'clock.

MASONIC HALL.—Tuesday evening, at Masonic Hall, will be given the great panoramic exhibition of the "Apocalypse," consisting of fifty magnificent paintings, illustrative of the Book of Revelations, commencing with the Vision of the Seven Golden Candlesticks, and closing with the Vision of the Day of Judgment. It will doubtless draw well.

Musical.

The celebrated Marshall & Mittuaer Piano, for which Messrs. Hoffman, Hoene & Co., No. 53 Fifth street are exclusive agents, are taking the lead of all others, and in fact are creating a furore of excitement in the musical world. They possess numerous advantages over all other instruments manufactured or sold in this country, and are destined ere long to supercede all others. In purity and sweetness of tone they are unequaled, while for power and volume they excel all others, as has been fully tested and admitted at all the State fairs, and by many of the leading musicians of the day. Messrs. Hoffman, Hoene & Co., in addition to this splendid stock of Pianos, have on hand a general assortment of musical instruments of every description, sheet music, and in fact everything pertaining to the trade. What an acceptable holiday gift one of those splendid pianos, or a fine Cabinet organ, would be. Persons in desiring to purchase presents for their friends should not fail to visit this popular house. No. 53 Fifth street is the place.

Universalist Fair at City Hall.

This fair is attracting considerable attention, and as all the arrangements are now complete, there will doubtless be a rush to City Hall during the holidays. The booths are well supplied with valuable articles suitable for holiday presents. Then there will be many chances for the lucky. One $1,200 piano; one $500 buggy; four very fine gold watches, and two valuable silver tea sets are among the valuable articles to be carried off by some lucky persons. You will also have a chance to vote for your choice candidate for the next President; the privilege of visiting the gallery of fine arts, and of seeing the great curiosity—"What is it?" Then each evening closes with a grand promenade. Let all bear in mind that this will be the great week of the fair.

The Miltonian Tableaux To-night.—We doubt whether the Academy of Music, although very large and capacious, will be able to accommodate all who will clamor for admission there to-night, to witness this great exhibition, and it would be advisable for those who cannot be on hand at an early hour, to secure their seats during the day, at Mellor's book store, 81 Wood street.

Re-Union.—The third annual re-union of the Sixty-Second Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers takes place Tuesday evening, the 24th inst., at Wilkins Hall. Everything to insure the comfort of guests has been done by the managers, and the occasion promises to be one of rare enjoyment.

Readers will discover twenty good reasons for purchasing as a holiday gift a Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organ, by referring to the advertisement of C. C. Mellor, No. 81 Wood street, which appears at the head of the eighth column on the second page of to-day's GAZETTE.

Call in at Henry Miner's book store, 71 and 73 Fifth street, for a complete list of holiday books, with prices attached, just issued by that establishment, and being a catalogue of the publications suitable for presents, to be found there for sale.

Fourth Ward, Allegheny, Republicans will meet this (Monday) evening, in the Columbia Engine House, at 7 o'clock, to name a ticket to be voted for at the primary election on Saturday.

Rare Opportunity.—A rare chance to obtain a first class retail boot and shoe store at a great bargain is offered by an advertisement under our "for sale" notices.

A Word About Davis, Clarke & Co.'s Holiday Stock.

The sterling and enterprising old established house of Messrs. Davis, Clarke & Co., book dealers, No. 93 Wood street, have made extensive arrangements for supplying their numerous customers with goods suitable for holiday presents, and an advertisement announcing this fact will be found on the second page of to-day's paper. Their stock is very large and complete and possesses attractions for persons of all shades of opinion and taste. It embraces all of the more popular gift books issued by English and American publishers, and as the quality of the matter contained between the covers has been made a special object in the selection, no one need fear purchasing at random any volume found on the shelves. The collection of books suitable for the expanding and grasping minds of children, is remarkably fine, and will commend itself to any intelligent parent or friend of the young. All the works of the standard authors will be found in a variety of styles of binding and typography, so that pecuniarily and otherwise all who call for any work can be suited. A magnificent assortment of Bagster's and other fine editions of the Bible, for family or church purposes, will be found, at prices ranging from four dollars up to fifty. Our space is too limited to permit any full enumeration of the very desirable works offered by this house as holiday presents, but we can assure our readers that the entire stock is superior in its character, and in every respect comes up to the requirements of the day. In addition to the books kept by Messrs. Davis, Clarke & Co., they offer a large assortment of Swiss carved goods, carved brackets, match and cigar boxes, jewel and card cases, paper knives, a variety of writing desks, tourists' cases and portfolios, handkerchief and glove boxes, photographic sketches and a variety of other articles which would prove very suitable as Christmas presents, and which are offered at very cheap and reasonable prices. We bespeak for this fair dealing firm a full share of holiday patronage, and ask our readers to favor the house with a purchasing visit.

China Ware for the Holidays.

Messrs. Richard E Breed & Co., a business firm that has long occupied a high position in the estimation of the community, announce a very elegant and suitable lot of queensware just opened for the holidays. On Saturday we had the pleasure of looking through the stock and found it to be very superior in all departments. Readers who contemplate making holiday presents of a sensible character should not overlook the attractions of this house, as nothing could prove more acceptable to married or single friends than the articles here offered for sale. The dinner, tea and breakfast sets of queensware, the elegant specimens of art in the way of vases of elaborate workmanship, the fancy and beautiful sets of clear and ornamented China ware, the exquisite statuettes in Parian marble, the superb specimens of Bohemian glass goods, and the more humble plain stone sets for ordinary use, will all commend themselves to those out on gift purchasing tours. The stock of general goods peculiar to the trade now held by this firm is one of the finest ever opened in Pittsburgh, and in point of variety is not excelled by any Eastern house. The prices have been greatly reduced in consequence of the decline in the principal markets, and purchasers can depend on recieving the worth of their money in bestowing their patronage on Messrs Breed & Co.

A Royal Present.

If we were asked to select a present of a substantial character wherewith to gladden the heart of a wife, daughter, niece or lady friend, we should advise the purchase of a piano or cottage organ. Such articles, with anything like good care, will last a life time, and will never fail to be appreciated by the grateful recipient. After we had succeeded in convincing our friend to make such selection, we would not hesitate to commend to his attention those very superior Schomacker pianos and Estey's Cottage organs, which are sold exclusively in this city by the well known music dealers, Messrs. Barr, Knake & Buettler, No. 12 St. Clair street. The former instrument has everywhere received the highest praise, being justly regarded as the very perfection of musical mechanism. Its tones are full, sweet and powerful, while its workmanship and furniture are not only exquisite, but stout and durable. Few are unacquainted with the many good qualities of the Estey organ, as it is in use everywhere, and in all cases gives complete satisfaction. Both instruments are sold at very reasonable prices, it requiring no very large sum of money to purchase either. At this establishment will likewise be found a very fine collection of foreign and American sheet music, brass and silver pipe instruments, violins, drums, and numerous other articles which will prove highly acceptable as holiday presents.

Ho! for Christmas.

During the great special sale of trimmings, lace goods and notions, the store of Messrs. Joseph Horne & Co., Nos. 77 and 79 Market street, has been thronged with wholesale and retail patrons. Readers desirous of purchasing holiday presents will bear in mind that the entire fresh stock found in this extensive house is offered at prices much lower than those which prevailed anterior to the war. The firm, anxious to close out every dollar's worth of goods in their establishment, have paid little regard to the prime cost of their stock, marking down all articles at great bargains, offering their patrons much better inducements than can be obtained in the metropolitan cities by by wholesale purchasers. The line of holiday goods is full and complete and will commend itself to persons desiring to select suitable and useful as well as ornamental presents. Remember the place, Nos. 77 and 79 Market street. See the double column advertisement on our second page.

Where to Select Suitable Presents.

At J. W. Pittock's headquarters for albums, toy books, juvenile publications, stereoscopic views, alabaster goods, port folios, writing desks, &c., will be found all the works of the standard authors in a variety of styles. The stock of elegant gift books cannot be excelled, either in point of variety or beauty. The publishers this season have taken unusual care to present the community with the most popular works of the poets and scholars, in attractive and beautiful styles, and Mr. Pittock seems to have gone into the market with eyes wide open, for he has in his collection the very cream of all. Strangers in the city selecting appropriate gifts should not fail calling at this widely known store, which is opposite the Postoffice, and examine the really magnificent stock offered the holiday trade. The prices will be found as reasonable as can elsewhere be obtained.

Carpets at Immense Reduction in Prices.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement on our second page, headed as above, of the extensive carpet house of Oliver McClintock & Co., No. 23 Fifth street. The firm have on hand a very heavy stock of fashionable carpets, rugs, oil cloths, mattings, carriage and sleigh robes, piano covers, hassocks, &c., which they are desirous of at once closing out regardless of cost. The goods are very choice, having been selected with unusual care, and persons desiring anything in this way will do well to call during the continuance of the great special sale. The high character of the firm is sufficient guarantee that the announcement of an immense reduction is made in good faith, so that the grand clearance sale may prove a success.

A Fact Not to be Forgotten.

To-day and to-morrow all those who purpose making their friends or relatives presents on Christmas, will go out shopping and make their selections. We hope that none of our readers will forget that the very large stock of lace goods, embroideries, fancy goods, hosiery, gents' furnishing goods, gloves, and hundreds of other articles, suitable for Christmas presents, found at the popular retail trimming and notion house of W. W. Moorehead, No. 81 Market street, is offered at greatly reduced rates to suit the depression in the eastern markets. The ladies are fully aware of the advantages offered by this favorite house for their patronage, and we trust that holiday present purchasers will not overlook its claims while making their selections.

OFFICE BOARD OF WATER COM'RS.,
ST. LOUIS, Dec. 14, 1867.

The attention of engine builders and machinists, at home and abroad, is directed to the advertisement of this Board (in another column of this paper) for the building and furnishing of four large engines for the new St. Louis city Water-works, as specified in the advertisement. By law the consideration to be paid on the part of the city, in all contracts, shall be in money.

GEO. K. BUDD, President.

The Great Exhibition of the Visions of St. John, at Masonic Hall Tuesday Night, Dec. 24th.

From all we have heard and read of this exhibition, we judge it will take our citizens by storm, when opened here on Tuesday evening next. In fact, we predict a greater rush to witness this work than to anything that has yet been brought to our city. The press, the clergy, and the people everywhere pronounce it to be one of the finest exhibitions ever witnessed, and almost divine in its character, illustrating, as it does, the grandest subjects in the world.

We copy the following notice of this exhibition from the Louisville Democrat. It was written by a clergyman while the exhibition was in that city:

"Of the mastership of the artist who designed the tableaux, we may say he is certainly at home in his profession, if such we may call it. Every scene is a living representation of what St. John saw, from the hearing of the first angel's voice to the day of judgement, when God sat upon the great white throne and saw the multitude assembled before Him, that he might choose from among them those that served Him, 'to dwell with Him forever,' who had their names recorded by the angels in the 'Book of Life.'

"These exhibitions have a power of influence over the minds of an audience, and we doubt whether there are but few, if any, who can come away without being impressed with the truth, that to be a Christian is to be like God."

There will be a grand Christmas matinee on Wednesday afternoon, when we are assured most positivly that old "Santa Claus" will be there.

Holiday Goods, and Where to Purchase.

At Macrum & Carlisle's wholesale and retail trimming and notion house, No. 19 Fifth street, will be found a very choice stock of goods peculiar to their trade, which is offered to the public for the holidays. The goods are all fresh and new, and embrace the latest styles and novelties introduced in the leading cities. The selection of real and imitation lace goods is remarkably fine, and to those desiring to make Christmas presents to lady friends very superior attractions. The general stock of fancy goods suitable for the holiday times will be found equal to any in the city, while the prices are very reasonable. Dealers in the city will consult their interests by favoring the house of Macrum & Carlisle with a purchasing visit, and retail patrons should not fail to call in and see the magnificent display made of choice holiday goods.

Sewing Machines for Christmas.

As a matter of general interest we present the following facts:

New Weed Sewing Machine is the family favorite, a perfect model of beauty, and universally acknowledged to be the leading Machine. It defies all competition; has a self-adjusting tension. It is so simple that any one can learn. The Weed does not take fits and spells when you want it to sew. When a person is aware of possessing the article that has taken the front seat over all others, he has grounds for satisfaction.

Then the greatest blessing that you can bestow for a Christmas present is the renowned Weed Sewing Machine. It has carried off all the first prizes this year at the different Fairs; and, in fact, still stronger evidence—it has been sent to the same house where others had previously been sent. They were sent back and the new Weed kept.

Call and see it, at R. H. Long's, No. 112 Grant street.

Ancient Fine Arts.

To the Editor of the New York Herald:

Respecting the relics of porcelain ware found in the late exhumation at Herculaneum, which have been forwarded to the Society of Antiquities in London, whereof your correspondent says the bottle resembling Drake's Plantation Bitters was undoubtedly placed among the ruins by the agent of Dr. Drake, we desire to state he is incorrect in every respect. If a bottle was found there bearing our lettering, the language of the Ancient Romans was different from the accepted literature of that day. Our Agent has other business than this in Europe, and has not been in Italy at all. No doubt Americans carry Plantation Bitters to Rome; but trying to impose upon a society of Antiquarians in this way, seems quite useless, and we do not appreciate the joke. It is unnecessary for us to spend money in Europe while we are unable to supply the demand for these celebrated Bitters here.

Respectfully,
MWF:F P. H. DRAKE & CO.

A princely present would be the masterpieces of Italian art. Photographs from the finest engravings of the most celebrated paintings of the Italian Masters, in the various Galleries throughout Europe, with memoirs of each painter. December 19th, 1867.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

MONDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1867.

SOUTHERN LOYALISTS, by whatever party designations they may be distinguished, evidently prefer Mr. S. P. Chase for President to any other man who has been named.

ANOTHER railroad tragedy occurred on Saturday, on the Boston, Hartford and Erie line, near Walpole. Fifteen or twenty persons were injured; two of them so badly as to prove fatal.

IF Fenianism in this country dwindled to a farce, it has assumed formidable proportions in England, as is demonstrated by the unceasing and prodigious efforts of the government for its suppression.

SOME of the democratic newspapers are trying to extract consolation from the notion that Gen. Grant would not, under existing circumstances, write another letter to the President, kindred in tone and purpose, to the one recently published. How do they know that? The General has not seen occasion to recant the doctrines and sentiments of that letter. Is not that conclusive?

MR. STANTON's friends say he would have resigned months ago had he not received a letter from Republican Senators and Representatives asking him to hold on. That may be; but will these friends explain what induced the aforesaid gentlemen to write that letter? If Mr. Stanton had carried the same face to them the President says he did to him, such a letter could hardly have had existence.

MR. WENDELL PHILLIPS holds that conductors of public journals are lacking in proper independence because they will not print exactly what they think of every man and everything. If he should start on a promenade down Tremont street, some fine morning, resolved to tell every man he met, whom he knew, what he thought of him, and should really carry this resolution into effect, he would doubtless get knocked down several times before finishing his walk, and would deserve the larger part of the castigation. A man is not, and ought not, to be privileged to say all he thinks about his fellow-citizens. Society could not be held together on that basis.

IT IS CLAIMED that the opening of the Allegheny Valley Railroad shortens the distance between Franklin, in Venango county, and the city of New York, by thirty-six miles. This is accomplished by using the Allegheny Valley, Western Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania Central, and the Allentown lines, instead of the Atlantic and Great Western, and the Erie railroads. It is further claimed that the distance from Franklin to Philadelphia is shortened twenty-five miles, by taking the Allegheny Valley, Western Pennsylvania, and Pennsylvania Central roads, instead of the Warren and Franklin, Philadelphia and Erie and Pennsylvania Central.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

On the seventh day of January, being the first Tuesday of the month, the Legislature of Pennsylvania, in conformity to the requirement of the Constitution, will convene in regular session in the Capitol at Harrisburg. The first thing in order will be the selection of officers. Mr. GRAHAM, it is altogether probable, will be continued as Speaker of the Senate, and Mr. HAMERSLY as Clerk; and few changes are likely to be made in the subordinate offices. For the Speakership of the House the contest has pretty much narrowed down to Mr. MCCAMANT of Blair, and Mr. DAVIS of Philadelphia. The friends of each of these gentlemen appear to be sanguine of success. Of course, one of them is destined to disappointment, but which, we cannot undertake to say. Mr. RUSSELL thinks he will make the Clerkship of the House, as the successor of Mr. BENEDICT, deceased.

The changes made in the membership of the two Houses, at the October election, were, in the aggregate, favorable both as to intellectual ability and personal character. Not that all has been gained in these particulars that is desirable. There is still abundant room for improvement, which will be sure to follow so soon as the men of sense and stability in both of the political parties participate as actively as they ought in the primary arrangements thereof. Business men, absorbed in private pursuits, are wont to extend the ideas they hold and practice therein as to the division of labor farther than they are applicable. They turn over the management of political affairs, not only without remonstrance, but gladly, to whomsoever it may please to take a special interest therein. What they seek is to rid themselves of the inconvenience or burden of attending to their duties as freemen; and having accomplished this they fancy they have shaken off all responsibility in the premises. This is the basis of their standing complaint that political affairs are badly engineered, and that sweeping reforms ought to be speedily inaugurated. It is a fundamental principle that they who demand equity shall do equity. To vary the form but not the essence of the maxim, they who make complaints about their fellows, touching any matter, ought to be sure they have so demeaned themselves as not to afford ground for counter complaint. When politics shall no longer be left practically to the management of a few, but when all citizens shall recognise and discharge their obligations regarding the course of political affairs, a most beneficial change will be wrought, and many sources of crimination will be dried up.

At present but one question of State Policy excites general interest, and so has special prominence; and that relates to the enactment of a Free Railroad Law. The last Republican State Convention, not less from the convictions of the members than from the pressure of public opinion, took strong ground in favor of such an enactment. That party has a majority in each branch of the Legislature, and has the Governor besides. It is so situated that it can offer no fair or reasonable excuse for action shall amount to a breach of faith in this regard. We do not suspect it of a disposition to do anything else than to meet its voluntary engagements.

As the new year is the year of the Presidential election, strong temptations will be presented to the two Houses, to indulge freely in the discussion of national politics. It is earnestly to be hoped that the tendency in this direction will be rigidly restrained. The General Assembly has its appropriate function; which is to enact laws for the people of Pennsylvania. It has no other function; and though precedents can be urged for consuming days and weeks in debating matters altogether beyond its jurisdiction, and authority over which belongs exclusively to Congress, these precedents are "better honored in the breach than in the observance." The sooner the Legislature can perform its specific duties, perform them well, and permanently adjourn, the better will citizens of all shades of opinion be satisfied. This will not result in any lack in the discussion of national politics during the coming year. Congress is holding its long session, and the people are certain not to suffer a dearth of oratory from that quarter. Besides, during the summer and autumn there will be thousands of convocations, held under the auspices of each of the great parties, which will afford an abundance, if not a surfeit, of political talk. Let the Legislature stick to its proper vocation, and spare the people a supernumary and useless infliction.

THE Toledo Blade makes a strong presentation of the advantages which would result from connecting Pittsburgh and Toledo by a more direct line of railway communication than that which now exists. Having made this presentation, it adds:

"Let us suggest to the Pennsylvania Central and the Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne directors, that an extension of their road from Wooster to Toledo, and thence to Ann Arbor and Saginaw, in Michigan, is a short line that would soon give them a great business. It would not wait the development of the country for its business, but running side by side with the Cleveland and Toledo Railroad through Monroeville, Norwalk and Fremont, would compete at once for the business of these thriving towns, as well as the greater business of Toledo, and the great State of Michigan beyond."

It will be seen from this quotation that the appeal is based on the presumption that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company, if not identical, are peculiarly related to each other. This is a misapprehension. They are run in connection for mutual profit, but in ownership and management are totally disconnected. The Pennsylvania Railroad sold out, some time ago, all the stock it held in the Fort Wayne road.

That the proposed line would be advantageous to this city, is beyond dispute; but some other scheme than that suggested must, we apprehend, be hit upon, before it can be consummated.

MR. VAN WYCK, of New York, in his place in the House of Representatives, recently made a vigorous assault upon the Gettysburg Association. He declared that the diamonds offered for sale by the Association, and valued at $300,000, were a lot of worthless stones, and that the farm which they had valued at $60,000 was not worth more than $6,000. This is one side of the question. Brown & Spaulding, of Broadway, Henly, of Maiden Lane, and Hermann, of Broome street, New York, all jewelers of reputation, declare the jewels to constitute the largest collection of fine stones ever brought together in this country. Smith, ex-Recorder of New York, who owns the farm, says he refused $45,000 for it, and was offered $15,000 for the water-power of a saw-mill on the ground with twenty acres of the land. That is the other side. Whatever may be the decision relative to this dispute, there is no question but a great mistake was committed in chartering the Association with lottery powers.

PERHAPS as damaging a charge as any other made against the President, is that which has the Secretary of the Treasury for its authority, and is to the effect that if the right sort of men were employed in the Department of Internal Revenue the whisky tax as it stands could be collected as certainly as any less assessment. And this comports with reason. One hundred and twenty-five million dollars, plundered from a single source of revenue, because the President insists on having tools of his Policy rather than honest men in office! It is fair to infer that most of the other fountains of income are depraved proportionately, and for the same purpose. Yet there are men and newspapers, claiming common sense, that look incredulously when the impeachment of the President is demanded, and want to know what evil he has done to call down such wrath upon his innocent head!

—A wonderful transformation scene occurred in Canada recently. An editor who was attacked on a bridge, by a rascal, threw his assailant out into the river and made an item of him.

—A Prussian sailor committed suicide in Philadelphia, on Wednesday, by taking arsenic. He gave as a reason for the deed that he had been crossed in love and did not want to live any longer.

—Fanny Janauschek, the great German tragedienne, has been making a sensation in Philadelphia. The press of that city is unanimous and loud in its praises of her acting. Her redition of Medea and Adrienne is said to be especially fine.

—A boy, in St. Louis, was carrying home a tumbler of molasses, when he fell, breaking the tumbler, a piece of which entered into his adomen, making a very ghastly wound from which the entrails protruded. The attending surgeon says the boy will live if he can prevent inflamation, which is doubtful.

—The young man who was shot lately in Wisconsin, being mistaken for a deer, is recovering, and his nurse, a pretty young woman, says she doesn't blame the man for shooting him at all, for he's a perfect dear and no mistake.

—Dubuque is the largest town in Iowa, and has 20,000 inhabitants. Then follow Davenport with 17,000, Des Moines with 12,000, and Burlington with 11,000. No other town, we believe, in Iowa has ten thousand inhabitants.

—Madame Tussaud has added a figure of the Emperor Theodore, as also those of Allen and the other Fenians who were hanged, to her chamber of horrors. The figure of the Abyssinian is thought to be that of Franz Muller done over again.

—It is stated that Gen. Dix is coming home from Paris to be a candidate for nomination for the Presidency at the Democratic Convention. Such a nominee would have every personal requisite, at least for the office, which is far more than can be said of many Democratic nominees.

—A locomotive on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad struck the horses of a street car on Archer avenue, in Chicago, on Wednesday last, and killed them, mangling them terribly. Fortunately no one in the car was hurt, although all were frightened.

—John Brotherton died recently in Springfield, Illinois, leaving his brother William, of Lock Haven, Pa., sole executor. When the will was opened and this fact discovered the brother was telegraphed to; but a reply from friends announced that William had did about half an hour before John.

—A bank clerk, who was unable to get any vacation during the summer, was at last granted two weeks about the beginning of this month; he returned at the end of the time and said he had been nowheres. He had started to visit some friends in Connecticut, but after battling with snow on several roads for nearly two weeks, he went back, having been emphatically snow bound without reaching his Connecticut faiends at all.

—A man in St. Louis recently set up a fashionable shoe store, which was filled with the finest stock he could procure on credit. He was of an insinuating disposition and address, and he succeeded in borrowing several thousand dollars in various amounts. On Sunday morning his shop door was closed and draped with crape. The gas was burning in the store, and it was not until Friday that his confiding creditors found that he had gone off on Saturday, as had most of his stock.

—Benjamin F. Orcutt, the Sheriff of Kalamazoo, Michigan, who, as we have already recorded, was shot several weeks ago by a band of desperadoes in trying to deliver some other desperate characters from the jail, died on Friday last. Every decent citizen of Kalamazoo has taken upon himself the duty of trying to find out the murderers. The general impression is that the gang came from Chicago, and therefore search was instituted there, resulting in the arrest on Tuesday of two well known roughs, whose participation in the crime remains to be proved.

Suggestions of the Season.

King Winter has waved his sceptre over the land, whitening the earth, bridging the streams, and turning the waterfalls to pendant crystal. Upon animated as well as inanimate nature, the frigid atmosphere produces a marked effect. The blood is driven from the surface of the body back upon its inner fountains, and Chills and Fever, Rheumatism, Pulmonary Diseases, Biliousness, and unpleasant disorders of the stomach and bowels are apt to be the result.

Now, what is required to fortify the system against the attacks of disease thus engendered? Clearly a TONIC, which, acting through the stomach upon the circulation and the nervous system, shall redetermine the vital fluid to the surface, and brace the nerves of motion and sensation. But this is not all that is required. With the TONIC must be combined such ALTERATIVE and REGULATING agencies as will tend to keep the whole animal machinery "in good working order."

These three grand requisites of a winter restorative exist, in their fullest perfection, in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which are compounded of the purest vegetable stimulants and extracts, of the most genial and healthful roots, barks and plants that the herbalists and botanists of the world have yet discovered.

Coughing in Church.

Hundreds of persons destroy the interest of a whole congregation, by a continued coughing and sneezing, when in church, and frequently interrupt the preacher in his sermon, by a long bark, as unbecoming as it is dangerous to the health of the person himself. This need not be. DR. KEYSER, of Pittsburgh, has prepared a medicine which, although you can't carry it in your pocket, if you will take a dose before going to church, will allay all tickling and irritation of the lungs, and by a perseverance in its use for a day or two, will entirely cure the disease. SO DON'T COUGH ANY MORE IN CHURCH; THINK OF DR. KEYSER and his CHERRY PECTORAL; open your heart strings and purse strings, and you will be a better and happier man, and not be looked upon as one who annoys your neighbors. You can get it at any Druggists.

HEALING WITHOUT DRUGS.

The true curative plan or natural healing art is based entirely upon physiological principles—upon the ACTIVITY OF FUNCTIONS in appropriating or using the LIFE SUSTAINERS, and their nutrient value being assimilated in a manner that is potent in the BANISHMENT OF DISEASE from the system. But before we can heal through the inherent vital properties of the tissues, we bring the RATIONAL MATERIA MEDICA to bear, in DRAWING OUT THE DISEASE MEDICINES, and morbid materials through the activity of the depurating channels, sanatory provisions and safety valves, with which the system is bountifully supplied. But when these are either obstructed or not understood, the penalty is the same; therefore instead of quaking lest we die before we have gained more money than we can use, it is our highest policy to learn first the laws of righteousness in the bodily tabernacle, in order that we may live to inherit our natural wealth of happiness. By our normal tonics, alteratives, stimulants, sedatives, &c., we get the FRIENDLY changes of vital action, without the corrosive wounds inflicted by drugs. By a correct dealing with causes in the province of disease, we eradicate the whole catalogue of parasites, among which are tape worm, erratic worm, &c.; also, tumors, cancers, ulcers, abscesses, dropsy, insanity, diseases of the bones or mallities, ossium and fragilitus ossium, deafness, liver complaint, dyspepsia, gout, rheumatism, neuralgia, and in short every disease that flesh is heir to, provided our remedial plan is strictly adhered to. We do not expect to please all. But those who have been the victims of the empyracism and ingenious lingo of similia similibus curantur, and contraria contrarious curantur practice; and now wish PHYSICAL REDEMPTION, in its broadest sense, can try the Vis-Conservatrix Naturae Method, by giving us a call, at No. 50 CENTRE AVENUE, Pittsburgh.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.
PITTSBURGH, PA., Dec. 21, 1867.

Whereas, the 7th section of chapter seventeen of the City Code, directs and orders that all and every person who shall possess or inhabit the front house, shop, or building adjoining to and fronting the foot pavement within the said city, shall cause the same along the fronts of their respective shops, houses, buildings or property to be swept, scraped and cleaned at least on every Tuesday and Friday of each week. And as many of the pavements of the city are in such condition as to seriously impede the business of and are dangerous to the pedestrians, this is to give notice that unless the afore-recited provision of the ordinance is complied with, the penalties attached thereto will be strictly exacted.

ST. LOUIS WATERWORKS.
To Machinists.

OFFICE BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS, CITY OF ST. LOUIS, Dec. 16, 1867.

SEALED PROPOSALS, endorsed "Proposals for High Service Pumping Engines," and directed to the "Board of Water Commissioners," will be received at their office, southeast corner of Fourth and Elm streets, City of St. Louis, until twelve o'clock, noon, of MONDAY, the twenty-seventh day of January 1868, at which hour the bids will be publicly opened and read, for building and erecting at Bissell's Point, City of St. Louis, two high service pumping engines, with boilers and appurtenances complete; engine No. 1 to be completed and ready for service by the 1st of November, 1869; engine No. 2 to be completed and ready for service by the 1st of January, 1870.

Also, at the same time and place, SEALED PROPOSALS, endorsed "Proposals for Low Service Pumping Engines," and directed to the "Board of Water Commissioners" as aforesaid, for building and erecting at Bissell's Point, City of St. Louis, two low service pumping engines, with boilers and appurtenances complete. Engine No. 1 to be completed and ready for service by the 1st of October, 1869. Engine No. 2 to be completed and ready for service by the 1st of January, 1870.

Plans of the engines and boilers can be seen, and specifications with form of proposal and contract, can be obtained upon application at the Engineer's office, as above, on or after Thursday, the 26th of December, 1867, and also at the office of WM. E. WORTHEN, Civil Engineer, 481 Broadway, New York.

The amount of security will not be less than fifty thousand dollars on each contract. The Board reserves to itself the right to increase this amount of security after the proposals are opened, to any sum not exceeding one-half the amount of the contract, should they decide that it is for the interest of the city so to do. The sureties offered must be resident freeholders of the county of St. Louis.
By order of the Board.

SCHOMACKER'S
GOLD MEDAL PIANO,
AND ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGAN.

THE SCHOMACKER PIANO combines all the latest valuable improvements known in the construction of a first class instrument, and has always been awarded the highest premium wherever exhibited.

ITS TONE IS FULL SONOROUS AND SWEET.

The Workmanship, for durability and beauty, surpass all others. Prices from $50 to $150, (according to style and finish,) cheaper than all other so-called first class Piano.

ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGAN

Stands at the head of all reed instruments in producing the most perfect pipe quality of tone of any similar instrument made in the United States. It is simple and compact in construction, and not liable to get out of order. CARPENTER'S PATENT "VOX HUMANA TREMOLO" is only to be found in this Organ. Price from $100 to $350. All guaranteed for five years.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

AN ELEGANT
HOLIDAY PRESENT.
TWENTY REASONS
FOR BUYING A
MASON & HAMLIN
CABINET ORGAN.

1. It is the BEST INVESTMENT you can make; safer and bringing greater returns than money loaned on interest or invested in bonds or lands.
2. It will render home attractive, and save more expensive and less beneficial amusements.
3. Its music will cultivate good feeling, and have the best influence.
4. It will enable your sons and daughters to learn to play, and so give them a valuable accomplishment.
5. It will give them facilities to qualify themselves as teachers of music, which is as good as a trade or profession. Thousands of ladies are now pleasantly supporting themselves by teaching music, which they learned merely as an accomplishment. If your daughter has some aptness for music, you would better give her a good instrument now, and encourage her to learn to play on it, than to give her thousands of dollars some years hence.
6. It will be a pleasure and comfort yourself during the long winter evenings.
7. It will last a lifetime, and you will value it more and more highly.
8. It is easier to learn to play on than a Piano Forte and costs much less.
9. The Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs are THE BEST instruments of this class in the world.
10. This is proved by the testimony of the best judges. They have been awarded highest premiums at OVER SEVENTY industrial competitions, including the FIRST PRIZE MEDAL at the WORLD'S EXPOSITION AT PARIS, this year. In their circular, M. & H. print the testimony of more than three hundred of the best musicians in the country that their instruments excel all others. When one who wishes to sell you an instrument claims that it is recommended as the best by hundreds of the most distinguished organists, ask him to show you their testimony. If it has ever been given, he will have it in print.
11. Compare the instruments made by M. & H. side by side with any others; compare them critically and thoroughly, tone by tone, and you cannot fail to see superiority in many respects.
12. These instruments are the only ones having the celebrated AUTOMATIC BELLOWS SWELL, the most important improvement in reed instruments for twenty years.
13. They are the only instruments having PATENT SELF-ADJUSTING REED VALVES, and the various other patented improvements of Mason & Hamlin.
14. They are the only reed instruments having clothed mortices.
15. Compare the exteriors, and observe that the instruments of M. & H. have the best quality of ivory; ivory fronts to the keys; real ebony and not merely colored black keys; desks made in the most substantial manner of three separate pieces of wood, glued together, and not liable to break, &c., &c. This thoroughness of workmanship, and use of only best material, runs through the whole instrument.
16. The thoroughness of construction of these instruments gives them the greatest durability. They are not liable to get out of order.
17. They will improve by age, getting even better in quality of tone.
18. THEY ARE THE CHEAPEST INSTRUMENTS OF THE CLASS; not the lowest priced, indeed, though the difference in price between these and inferior instruments is not great. It costs a little more to do the very best work, but is cheapest in the end.
19. It is not safe to trust to the judgment of dealers, who are tempted to think those instruments are the best on which they can make the greatest profits. M. & H. have fixed their prices so low that they cannot afford to pay the large commissions given to dealers by makers of inferior work.
20. Every instrument made by Mason & Hamlin is fully warranted. If it proves defective, you can suffer no loss, as their guarantee is above question.

Send for a Circular, which will be sent gratuitously, containing full descriptions and illustrations of the different styles and prices, which vary from $75 to $1,000 and upwards, each; also with testimony in full from the distinguished organists of the country to the superiority of these instruments.

THE O'CONNOR-TACK CASE.

[CONCLUSION.]

I take the distinction which is laid down in one of these very authorities I have cited, that if a man wants to sell, though it may be a hundred thousand barrels of oil which he has in his possession, and he chooses to go into the market and sell it, knowing that the effect of that sale will be to lower the market, and that is going to injure some one who loses heavily—that is no indictable offense. But if that man, who has a hundred thousand barrels of oil, goes to another man who has five, and to another who has ten, and say, "look here, let us all agree to go into the market on a certain day, and offer all this stock for sale and the effect will be to make the market tumble; and we will know beforehand what is going to happen; because depending upon this agreement, we make our contracts, everything is regulated by this combination, and we can thus, by the 1st prox., reduce the price of oil; and we have from now until that day to make our arrangements to profit by the fall." "That, I say, is clearly an indictable conspiracy. Now, I say these men did that. But above and beyond that, I charge these men, (and looking at the evidence in this case, I don't see how any reasonable man can doubt it.) I charge them that on that very early day in June, when Mr. O'Conner called on Augustus Tack, and on that very day when he went home on the solicitation of Augustus Tack, and had the interview with Theodore—I charge these Tack Bros. with then, at that time, having the intention of doing that which they afterwards did. In other words, by that very time, it was planned, set up, the combination was made and the means settled upon to take this man in and rob him on these contracts, which he was asked to make, as the friend and confidant of these persons who were also his paid agents. I say that was the object and intent of this conversation in the counting house at Philadelphia, and of the repetition of that conversation at the counting house at Pittsburgh. And I say if we are to judge of this thing, as the authorities say (and we have not asked evidence of what these men said to each other, because conspirators do not have witnesses who may come forward and testify what took place at their secret or private interviews;) but if we look at the circumstances surrounding the case, if we look at the actions of these men, and see them pointing to a common end, why then we must come to the reasonable conclusion in accordance with the maxim of law, that that thing the man intended to do which his actions must inevitably bring about.

Now, I say, that when this man went into Augustus Tack's office upon other business, and this thing was introduced to his notice, that that was where the beginning of these overt acts of this conspiracy is to be found. Now, let me see whether I cannot show that.

Mr. O'Connor is then told that they are going to go largely into this thing—going to continue in it; and your honor will remark that he is to have the earliest information of any change, because he is to be in the same boat that they are in. And then and there these men engaged, that this shall not be a matter of the mere wages of the broker, who is employed for that transaction, and who, the moment he has finished that transaction, has no more to do with it, but that this is to be a continuing transaction in which they, (Tacks,) are to be brokers and friends; and in consideration of the $3,000, they were to earn as commissions, they are to keep him in the same boat with themselves—to keep him in that boat, and when they step out he is to step out with them. The contract was, that he was to have the earliest information—that they were to keep him in the same boat with themselves, and that he should step out of the boat when they did. Now let us see how they did it. Mr. O'Connor authorizes them to make these contracts. They go on from June 10th to July 8th, or whatever the date was, selling the contracts. During all this time the market is as they stated it would be, the market is dull and rather declining, if anything. They make the contracts from time to time. And this man is at home in Pittsburgh relying on the fidelity of his agents, and easy in his mind that he is going to make a large sum of money out of these transactions.

Now, for fear that this man would get hold of anything which would induce him to investigate, it is necessary to allay any suspicions that might arise on his part from anything he might hear. These people knew, that where there were transactions of this kind, they were suspected; that men in the same business were watching them, and might have their suspicions aroused; and, therefore, Theodore, before leaving Pittsburgh, tells Mr. O'Connor that he is going to Philadelphia to take care of their own interests; that he is taking a large store of money to prevent the market being "cornered"—$20,000 in U. S. bonds, to prevent any advantage being taken of himself or his principals, and to take care of their interests. He leaves for Philadelphia, and on July 2d this contract is made. It is still necessary to allay this man's suspicions until that contract is signed; and on the 3d this man sits down and writes a letter to James O'Connor. Now, what does he say? Why, he is putting an anchor to windward; he knows this thing will be whispered on the street; he knows that O'Connor will hear it, and he wishes to allay his suspicions as to that. Now, let us see what his language is.

Mr. Cassiday—While you are there, will you show us the evidence of a "corner?"

Mr. White—We will come to that by and by. I think, however, the evidence of that will be found in this letter, if nowhere else—that this man (Tack) knew there was a corner; that he knew who was in it; and that he knew O'Connor would be likely to hear who was in it. And, on July 3d, he writes to this man: "Some parties here have been very industrious in circulating reports that Bunker and ourselves have been trying to 'corner' the market. This is absurd, as it is entirely against our interest to have the market advance."

Now, on July 3d, he says, it is against his interest to have the market advance, and refers to reports that Bunker and themselves had been trying to "corner" the market. O'Connor had never heard of such a "corner," nothing of the kind; he is utterly astonished to hear it said that Tack was in this; for it is to their interest to let everybody know that the market was falling; that he should be interested in that. But Tack sees that the report is getting out, and he writes to O'Connor to allay any suspicions he may have. Not only that, but he refers to Logan, who is doing his best to get up the price; and really the only parties who have thus far become excited are Pittsburghers, who have been buying from 27 to 30, this month's delivery. We consider, however, this afternoon, that the whole thing is "busted." And so the letter goes on, showing that this is a mere temporary thing, that it applies only to oil for present delivery, and that his (O'Connor's) contracts, which are for future delivery, will be profitable, and that the market must fall.

Now we turn to the telegrams and what do we find? That letter is dated on July 3d; and on that very July 3d, after these people have got the contracts signed, they telegraph, the one to the other (the private telegram from the one to the other of the two houses of Tacks:) "W. P. Logan has gone on to make his calls." Your Honor understands what the "calls" are. The operation was to call in simultaneously 70,000 barrels of oil, which, in the ordinary state of things, would not be called in perhaps for six months. But these people, on the 3d of July, on the very night when they want O'Connor to believe that Logan is opposed to them in interest, and who ought therefore to keep his operations secret—who ought to have been "bears" and not "bulls"—on that very night, the Pittsburgh house telegraphs to the Philadelphia house: "House here doing everything to excite market." Now, there is the evidence. Logan goes on to call in the 70,000 barrels, which have been placed under his control, and Theodore Tack, under his own name, telegraphs that his branch, the Pittsburgh branch—

Messrs. Brewster and Cassidy (interrupting)—Oh, no; he don't say so.

Mr. White—I am very glad to hear my friends on the other side cry out and spring up so suddenly.

Mr. Brewster—I was up when I spoke.

Mr. White—It shows where the shoe pinches. I never like anything better in the trial of a cause, than to see two gentlemen jump up excitedly in this way.

Now, I have read for your information the telegram, and will read it again lest there should be any mistake about it. "Logan left for New York last night to get buyers to call; house here doing everything to excite the market.

[Signed.] TACK, BRO & CO.

Mr. Brewster—That is his house.

Mr. White—That is exactly what I say; that is his house; that is not Logan's house, because Logan had no house in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Brewster—Oh, I beg your pardon, he had.

Mr. White—I beg your pardon, gentlemen; this is the Philadelphia house he has now, and that is what leads you into this mistake.

Mr. Cassidy—One moment—excuse me; I wish to refer to the proof.

Mr. White—The evidence, I think, has closed this matter, and I am now speaking to it; and if my friends have anything to say in reply, they will have the opportunity to say it.

Mr. Cassidy—I object to his saying anything that is not in evidence. There is no evidence that Logan has a house in Pittsburgh, and I object to the assertion that he has one.

Dist. Att. Mann (to Mr. White)—You call that Tack's house as long as you please; and they may call it Logan's.

Mr. Brewster—You have got the permission of the District Attorney, and you may do anything you please.

Mr. White—Well, with the permission of the Attorney-General, I will now—

Mr. Brewster—Oh no, I have nothing to say here; I am Mr. Brewster. I have not a word here. If I had, I would shut you up.

Mr. White—I have no doubt of that. [Laughter.]

Now, sir, I say, that when this Pittsburgh house telegraphed to the Philadelphia house, "the house here is doing all that is possible to excite the market;" and when it is telegraphed some time before, this man Logan has left Pittsburgh; what his purpose is in going, there can be no doubt at all; the Tacks were acting together, and acting for this very purpose. Well, now here is the proof of that. Either these men were wanting to keep O'Conner in the dark; were acting dishonestly to him; or, were acting honestly and in good faith to him. Now let us see what they would have done if this was an honest transaction. They had promised to give him the earliest information; that he should be in the same boat with them. Now, they had private information that Logan was going on to make calls, and something was being done to excite the market. Do they see him? He is living in the same town with them; he is in Pittsburgh; do they say to him: "Now, Mr. O'Connor, Logan has gone on to make calls; now let us see whether we cannot get out of this boat; we were in the boat, we acted honestly; now, the question is, whether we had not better leave the boat and here is our information?" Why, not at all, sir; they continue to tell this man that everything was right.

Well, now, what is the next thing in order after this telegram? Why, Theodore goes on to Philadelphia, and he stays there upon July 3d. This man enjoys his Fourth of July, and thinks everything is right and proper, as Theodore had said; because your Honor will recollect that Mr. O'Connor said, when I asked him, "what did you do after you got that letter?" he said: "I rested contentedly; I believed what was said." His mind was comforted, as he really believed it was but a temporary thing. What next do we find? On July 5th, we find the clerk of these men, Guthrie, very busy running around the streets of Pittsburgh. Now, we asked Mr. O'Connor what Mr. Guthrie was doing—but that was another occasion, when both my friends jumped up: they did not want to hear what he was doing. But the night before, when Tack telegraphed what the house was doing; that they were making calls, and doing everything to excite the market, they told Mr. O'Connor something they were doing. But my friends don't want to hear that. But whatever it was, it was sufficient to trouble him, and he goes to Frank Tack and asks about this news. Well, there, my friends were very anxious to shut off what Frank Tack told him. But one thing was, that a telegram was shown to him from Theodore Tack, who was then in Philadelphia, advising—of what? That all the petroleum in Philadelphia had been seized at West Philadelphia; that the cars had been switched off the track, and there was an immense excitement about it. Now this was the news which was telegraphed to the Pittsburgh house, which, as I argued, was doing everything to excite the market. And what is further represented? Why, that Augustus Tack is going to Washington with a Committee to have the oil released. Now, sir, when we find there is falsehood in the matter, we know there is guilt; because honesty don't require it. Now, was this true? Why, one lot of ninety-three barrels of oil had been seized because it was wrongly marked—a common occurrence. But of these ninety-three barrels the Tacks claim three barrels; and that fact Theodore Tack knew, because he had gone there to ascertain his part of the lot; and in the face of that they telegraph to Pittsburg, that the whole of that large quantity in the cars had been seized—the cars switched off the track—and that everybody was immensely excited about it. And on that news, in one twenty-four hours, oil jumped from 23 to 33 cents; and in that twenty-four hours, by this operation of calling the oil simultaneously, and spreading the false reports, this man O'Connor, if his accounts were to be settled that day, is out of pocket some forty thousand dollars.

Now, there is the operation, the way it is done, and there is the result. Well, sir, that was not all. This news is circulated about the seizures, and at the same time, everything is done to let this man (O'Conner) down step by step. If he is told this thing at once, why, he may "get ugly" about it, as we say, and go and investigate the matter. He is let into this thing step by step to break his fall, so that he may accept the loss finally, and pay it without trouble. But the next thing is this: Mr. O'Connor goes to Tack and says, "what does this thing mean, now you made a lot of statements to me, you said there was a glut in the market, and you knew all about it, what does this mean? Here I meet your clerk running around, on the 5th of July; here oil jumps from twenty three to thirty cents—explain it." The next thing that comes to his attention, is this circular of Crucy & Co., alleged to be a Greek house, I suppose for the purpose of giving the idea that this man Tack did not know them at all, that he merely knew them by reputation as a Greek house. What is the representation about that? He is told that a considerable amount of vessels were loading for Europe, that there was 190,000 barrels of oil actually being shipped on vessels in Philadelphia, that the oil is there and everything is going aboard; and Tack vouches for the truth of it. Well, now this man supposes that after that thing is over, oil will fall; but in the meantime, this false news is circulated, and it keeps up the price of oil. Well, that Mr. O'Connor takes for truth, and he rests satisfied a little longer.

Well, what is the next thing? Why Mr. O'Connor is advised; he was not allowed to state the other day how he got the advice; we asked him, and Mr. Cassidy objected, but he thought better of it, and asked Mr. O'Connor this morning how he was advised that the Tacks were at the bottom of this combination; and Mr. O'Connor tells you very frankly it was the common report on the street; it was known to everybody in the trade. "The first man who told me anything about it was Mr. Dilworth, and he told me that the Tacks were at the bottom of this combination, this 'corner,'" and he goes then straight to Theodore Tack and taxes him with being in it. Now what does he say to Theodore Tack? (Mr. White reads.) "I sent for Theodore Tack and told him I was going to Philadelphia to investigate the truth of the statements." "What statements?" Why, "first, in regard to the seizure of the oil; secondly, what put the price of oil up; and thirdly, whether these vessels were loading for Europe, and what was the cause of this advance by which I was to lose so much money. I was advised—I told him I was advised and believed that he was at the bottom of it, that his firm was the mainspring of this combination, as against myself, and if he was guilty, I would spend twice the amount of money, in punishment. If not, I would be very glad of it, for his own sake, as I had always esteemed him very highly up to that time."

It was not, sir, so much a matter of money; Mr. O'Connor could probably have stood the loss of all that he was going to lose, but he felt as any honorable honest man must feel when he is betrayed in his trust in a friend, and he said to him, "if you can show your innocence, I will be very glad of it." And he would be glad of it, and would have pocketed the loss and felt some satisfaction in the reflection that his confidence had not been betrayed; his trust in human nature would not have been impaired by an act of treachery so flagrant as that which he had reason to suppose was being committed against him, by a man upon whom he relied as he did upon this man Theodore Tack.

Now your Honor will perceive this man Tack makes no replies to these charges; he does not deny indignantly that there is any truth in them. (Mr. White reads:) "I came to Philadelphia on the 27th of July; the 28th was Sunday. On the 29th, I called on Augustus Tack at his office on Walnut street, when the first salutation was, that he understood that I was talking about him on the street, saying that he had acted dishonestly." Now your Honor will perceive that, in the first place, before this man (Mr. O'Connor) ever heard a word about any combination or "corner," or the connection of these Tacks with it, Theodore Tack writes: (because "the guilty flee, when no man pursueth")—he writes to this man: "It has been reported on the street that we are in the 'corner'—it is not true—the 'corner' has 'busted' and we had nothing to do with it." There was no charge made against him; he ran to meet it before a word had been said. Now see, what does the brother do. Mr. O'Connor comes from his home in Pittsburgh, to his hotel here; he speaks to no human being about the matter at all; he goes directly to this man's counting house (and he goes to him fairly, without speaking a word to any human being on this subject)—he goes to their counting house, "where the first salutation was, that he (Augustus Tack) said he had understood I had been talking about him on the street, saying that he had acted dishonestly," that is what he knew this man out to have said. (Mr. White reads.) "I told him I had seen no person on the street on the subject, while in Philadelphia, and had come to his office the first place; he then told me that any allegation against him were not true; I told him I would investigate the matter fully and see about it; I then went to General Cummings' office. When I left Mr. Tack's office we were not very friendly." Mr. O'Connor afterwards in the cross-examination, says he told him (Augustus Tack) that he (O'Connor) knew he was swindled and that Tack was at the bottom of it; "that he told him, he was swindled and that his house had done it." Now what is the reply? why not a word—no indignant denial. He taxes him with it and he says, "now I am going to Cummings' office to investigate it, and I am going to find out this thing." Not a word of reply nor a denial; now let us see how it operates. Now up to that minute, these Tacks never allowed O'Connor to suppose for a moment they were engaged in this "corner," never admitted it, never divulged the changed circumstances, never gave him any advice to buy, "to cover his 'shorts'" (using the language of the trade), on the contrary everything was done to keep him in the boat, where these Tacks had scarcely left. But now Mr. O'Connor says, "you have deceived me, I am going to investigate. I will spend money to punish you, if guilty, and I am going to have you punished;" and then he tells them what he is going to investigate—they have been endeavoring to keep him in the dark.

Now, what is the next thing? Why, the interview at the Continental Hotel that night. Now, sir, up to this time these men have made no direct admission that they were in it; on the contrary, they tried to deceive and mislead Mr. O'Connor, and lead him to think that they are in the same boat with him. But when they find concealment will no longer answer, what do they do? Mr Finney testifies that "Mr. Augustus Tack told Mr. O'Connor in my presence, upon the evening of the 29th of July last, that they had a magnificent thing before them, that if Mr. O'Connor would go into the arrangement, that any trifling loss he had sustained would be much more than made up." The very thing they had told him before about the contracts with himself. They had got him once, and they plucked him five thousand on that contract; they had now got him in a second time, and they want to pluck him fourteen thousand; and now he is to go into a third twenty thousand, in which he would be plucked again, as the event has shown. Because, if Mr O'Connor had gone into that, the result would have been that in place of making money, as your Honor suggests, as oil is now down, (I don't know the figure)—Mr O'Connor, in place of being $30,000 out of pocket, would probably be every dollar he has in the world out of pocket. [Mr. White reads:] "And he explained the object in detail, as explained by Mr. O'Connor." To carry out this project it appears there was a considerable number of persons—I read further: "That it was contemplated upon a margin of $2 per barrel, to buy 200,000 barrels of oil in Antwerp. To secure this, it would be necessary to take in a considerable number of people; that Emil Schalk would agree to go in for 8,000 barrels, Sheppler 8,000 barrels, Bunker Bros. 8,000 barrels, and they themselves for 8,000 or 10,000 barrels; and if Mr. O'Connor came in, his interest would be considered in proportion, and the profits would be large.

Now, sir, here is the object and here is where these men cannot escape, because out of their own mouths they are convicted. They were to obtain the control of this large quantity of oil, and stimulate the price artificially, first in Europe and then in this city, and put the prices up very largely. Now, sir, your Honor will recollect one point, which I omitted to state in this connection, that when Theodore returned from Philadelphia, and saw Mr. O'Connor in Pittsburgh, he had a conversation with Mr. O'Connor, and that there he said that he was still in the same position that O'Connor was. That was on the 9th of July; that his interests were still identical with his (O'Connor's), that he was as "short" as O'Connor was. Now, from that conversation (which was immediately after his return from Philadelphia), he goes direct upon the street, and there he meets this witness Burke. And what does he say to him? You will bear in mind that he has just come from O'Connor, whom he tells he is still "short," and is in the same boat with him, and therefore going to be a great loser inferentially. He meets Burke and he talks up the price of oil more, he speaks "bully," tries to enhance the price of oil in the market; and he says to him "We are all right—all right upon the advance." Now, there he has just come from this man to whom he says "We are all wrong, we are going to lose if you lose;" and he meets Burke and he tells him "Oil is going up" and that they will make by it, inferentially that they are all right upon the change of the market.

Now Mr. O'Connor, in his testimony as to that same interview at the Continental, says: "It is proper for me to state that the particular arrangement was—the proposition made me was, that each party was to put up these $2 a barrel, and the oil was to be purchased in Antwerp, and the market elevated there and here also. And this $2 put up, was to be what is termed a margin. And in case the market went down, nothing more could be lost than the $2 a barrel. The market did go up in Antwerp, from 43 francs to 58 francs a barrel." Now, did they go into this operation? That is what they were going to do; did they go in? Your Honor will recollect the telegram from Europe, which, the moment it is received, they telegraph to—whom? Why, in the first place, to the Pittsburgh house, the co-conspirator there, the next place, a duplicate to Emil Schalk, that oil had gone up to 58 francs, with the exclamation of triumph after it, over that which ran up this man's losses to $70,000—"bully boy." They had got it up to 58 francs; this "friend" had been enisled out of $70,000 (we don't know how much others have been enisled out of;) and that was the time to exclaim in triumph—"bully boy."

Now, one thing more—had these men been in the combination from the first? Now, what do they say themselves as to that? Not until the last moment, until the truth can no longer be evaded do they speak. Augustus Tack then said "they were forming a 'bull' ring;" they called it a "bull ring"—that is to elevate oil. A "bear" ring is to depress oil; that the combination that had already been made, had, so far, worked successfully enough, but they were "loaded" with oil, and they had contracts out, and the combination and "ring" must be "carried out." You will recollect there was no doubt as to what that referred. Mr. O'Connor had taxed them with being in that combination; he had told them that there was a corner, and that they were the main spring of that corner, and he was being robbed by it. Therefore, there was no doubt in their minds; they knew what they were talking about. And it is just as explicit as if they saying it to him that "the July combination, by which you are $70,000 out of pocket, has been successful."

Now, listen to their language. "That the combination which has already been made, had so far worked successfully enough, but they were 'loaded' with oil." Who? Why, Augustus Tack is speaking. "The combination has been already made; that is successful; "we are 'loaded' with oil!" And they had contracts out, and the combination and "ring" must be carried out. Then he explains who was going into it. "He said that desperate cases needed desperate remedies, and the movement must be carried through." "They were 'loaded' with oil!" Your Honor remembers the expression. They had been putting the price of oil up, and on one day had to call in 70,000 barrels, buying in at gradually advancing prices; and although it had been successful and the price run up, the question was now how to "unload," as is is technically called—that is, how to get rid of this immense load of oil which they had control of; that is, at the high price. If they offered it at a lower price, they will lose on the fall what they had made in getting it up. Now they had this desperate case; they had this immense load—and how were they to "unload!" 'The movement must be carried through,' and he, [Tack] "then and there asked me" [O'Connor] "to give him (Tack Bros.) $20,000—being a deposit of two dollars per barrel on 10,000 barrels, namely, $20,000 cash, and go in, and of course whatever money was made would be divided pro rata among us, according to the money we had in. In consideration of that he would make every effort to retire these contracts."

Well, now, the question is, was he in the corner? Why, who were the "corner?" who was trying to get this up? The telegrams show that Bunker Brothers were in it, and Schalk was in it; and these very men are all the men who hold O'Connor's contracts. Now, he (Augustus Tack) says, he was very intimate with Schalk, "and he will do what I wish him to do—Bunker Bros. & Co. we have just saved from failure." "He said that he made the statement regarding Bunker Bros. & Co., knowing it to be false. He asked me how this thing would do in my case."

Now, that is the kind of men we are dealing with—with this man, Augustus Tack, who tells O'Connor he has gone and reported what was false on the street—shamelessly false—that this house had failed; and then gone and set them right by reporting that they had not failed at all. Then he asks Mr. O'Connor, "Can we not report that you have failed?" Nothing of that kind is Mr. O'Connor going to do, and well he (Augustus Tack) knew it when he made the proposition—well he knew his man, and that it would not be accepted.

Now, Augustus Tack knows just the figure for which these contracts could be got in; he tells him (O'Conner) that $14,000 is the sum. Now, let him pay that $14,000. He had first got five thousand. He then asked him $20,000 to go into this new "ring;" and, therefore, they would have then some $40,000 out of this man's pocket, and would perhaps put him into other contracts which would double or treble his loss. Now, that is confirmed by the fact that afterwards, when Mr. O'Conner went to Tack's office, and the telegrams are shown him from Bunker Bros. & Co., and from Sheppler and Schalk, accepting the arrangement and putting up their respective sums. They were to put up $16,000 each. That would control 8,000 barrels each, at a margin of $2 a barrel. There were a number of people to go in, but these four with Mr. O'Connor were to be the nucleus of the "ring."

Well, now, the next thing to which I call your Honor's attention is, that on July 21 Mr. O'Connor sends them a deposit of a thousand dollars on the Badetty contract. That is to be put up as a margin. But these gentlemen quietly pocket that and refuse to put it up. Well, that is scarcely an item of evidence as to the conspiracy. It is some indication of the character of the men with whom we are dealing, and it leads to a very important piece of evidence, and that is the letter which was accidentally shown to Mr. O'Connor. Mr. Miller, who represents the other side of that contract, comes in, and there is a dispute about this thousand dollars in Tack's office, and Tack refers to a letter in his letter-box to convince Mr. O'Connor that he had done what was right about this thousand dollars; and he points out a passage in that letter. Well, Mr. O'Connor reads that letter, and inadvertently reads a little further than was pointed out to him, and Augustus says: "No, stop; that's all about that." Mr. O'Connor says, "If you want to act honestly, you had better let me see the whole of it." And after some little controversy, being in that position, he reads it, and what does he find? "I read it, and in that letter was the proof of his having bought that day about 4,500 barrels of oil; the letter was dated early in July."

Now, your Honor will recollect that all through July these men represent that they were doing the other thing. The moment this man goes to read this, they stop him. That shows there was something that was to be kept hidden from him, and they stop him. There is the proof of guilt—there in their own hand writing.

"He was buying oil the day he said he was selling! Yes, and I accused him in not very polite language. I said then, he had swindled me, and I say so now—that he was buying oil the day he said, and admitted he was selling."

"What did he say?" "I don't think he said anything." And how could he? There was his own letter in express denial of the very thing which he had stated.

Well, now, sir, Mr. Burke's testimony shows that on the very day they were selling for this man (O'Connor) at twenty-three cents, they were buying from this man Burke at twenty-two—buying from him at twenty-two at the very time when they were telling this man they were in the same boat with him and selling as he was. They were faithless to his interests there as everywhere else.

Now, your Honor will recollect the testimony as to Wightman's contracts and some others. We find, upon probing this matter, that a large number of Wightman's and other contracts are indirectly in the hands of the Tacks; "the operation," as it is called, is done in such a way as to show the wheel within the wheel. Now, it would not do for them to get hold of O'Connor's contract directly, but the operation is just the same as if the whole thing was done directly; it arrives at the same result—the money of James O'Connor finds its way, not directly, but circuitously into the pockets of these men, the Tacks. Wightman's contract was in the name of Bunker Bros., but when he comes to settle it and sees Theodore Tack in Pittsburgh, Theodore lets out the fact that their house is the real owners though it stands in the name of another party. And upon that, some $2,700 is to come out of this man's pocket and go, indirectly, into the pockets of these men, the Tacks.

Now, if there is not some evidence of a conspiracy in all this, then I do not think any man need ever fear of standing in any danger in this community of a prosecution for conspiracy. It is a secret crime, sir,—one in which all the parties engaged in it are leagued together, and from the start they are to be watchful to prevent any evidence getting out which will convict them of it. And we must not look merely to the way in which their actions point, to find out and prove the combination as well as the motives which prompted it. Now, here are the men that first tell Mr. O'Connor they are going to sell. They induce him to sell; they are on that side up to the very day. The very day his last contract is made, that he has authorized them to make; and on that very day they turn round and are found on the other side. Now, is not that a case from which a jury will draw the inference that they meant to be on the other side when all his contracts were made. When we find them in secret combination with other parties, telegraphing the news now this thing is to be done, stating that calls are going to be made before the man, who is to make them, leaves Pittsburgh, don't we draw the inference—would not a jury draw the inference—and is it not a fair inference to be drawn, that at the time these contracts were so made, they were laying out the way in which they were to make money of him? Now how else can their conduct be accounted for? Why telegraph to each other to keep the matter secret? Simply, because they were in the combination. That was the object and intent. And when O'Connor authorized them to make the contracts, that is where he walked into it; and where Theodore Tack telegraphed his brother that Logan had gone to make calls, and his house was doing everything to excite the market, that is where the string was pulled; and then for fear that this man would get out of the trap, they go to him and give him this information—that it is a temporary thing, that the "corner" had "busted," and that it was caused by this rumor about oil being seized. And they go from one thing to another to keep him safe and quiet in the toils. Now, I think their action points to but one conclusion, and that only—that this man was to be "plucked" by these contracts. And when Augustus Tack comes to the Continental and tells him they have been successful so far, and it is necessary to load, and then they will take him in—that only shows that they were in the combination from the first; and they only come then to let him in because he threatens a prosecution. He has said he will spend his money to punish them, he has told them how he will get his evidence; they know he can get it, they fear the result, and they say then at the last moment, "now we have put up the price of oil; we are going to cheat the public; we are going to cheat other parties the same as you are cheated, but we will take you in sooner than be prosecuted for it—that is the English of it. Now, there is a conspiracy, undoubtedly, upon the principles I have cited from the decisions, that where a party goes in to purchase by himself, where he wants to purchase for a legitimate purpose, he is not answerable for the result, but where he combines with others; then it is a criminal conspiracy.

Now, then, these men stated their conspiracy, the object of it and the means of it; and both that object and means were illegal. The means were by putting up this article and getting control of large quantities in Antwerp—which, it was said, would put up the price here. The object was that they might profit by it—profit by it to the ruin of outsiders.

Now, the fact that they offered to take him in is nothing to their credit. They did it only when threatened with prosecution. But this man indignantly refused to go in and make himself safe at the expense of outsiders who were going to be ruined.

Now, there is but one thing more to which I invite your Honor's attention, and that is with reference to these two telegrams. One is of July 23, which, you will recollect, was before O'Connor had left Pittsburgh. He had told Theodore he was coming here; and he came here on the 27th. And yet as early as the 23d, and after Mr. O'Connor had taxed Theodore with the fraud, after he had told him that he had been advised he was the mainspring of the combination, he telegraphs to Augustus —— what? Before this man had asked anything about settling, he telegraphs to Augustus that he has sent on full particulars of a proposition to settle with O'Connor, and that O'Connor was going there (Philadelphia), and if he accepted it to close it at once.

Now, what was that proposition? why, manifestly to let him out for $14,000 on condition that he would put $20,000 more into their hands. That was before O'Connor had said a word about it, or all he had said was, "I am going on to Philadelphia to investigate;" and Theodore immediately writes to his brother giving him authority to make this settlement which was afterwards proposed at the Continental Hotel. And that, as I said before, Mr. O'Connor at once and indignantly refuses to have anything to do with.

Now, the other telegram which I wish to speak about is this one in which the head centre is alluded to. Now, your Honor will recollect that the communication of these men is such that they employ a cipher for the name of Bunker, of Bunker Bros. & Co., as one of the conspirators of that firm. Now Mr. O'Connor tells you that Tack said that Bunker Bros. were going to fail and how he [Tack] saved them. Now what does the telegram mean which your Honor (and I do not wonder at it) thought to be in rather equivocal language? Why, let me suggest the key to it. This was a combination by which certain parties leagued themselves to keep up the price of oil. Now, what is the consequence if one of these parties fail? Why, manifestly it is that his whole stock is thrown upon the market, and in their own language, "the corner is busted"—that is an end of it. That is the cause if one man fails when his stock is involuntarily put on the market, or if any one man betrays his fellows (which there is a great temptation to do) because the great difficulty in "corners" is to "unload." It is easy enough at any time to run up the price of a vendable commodity which is produced in limited quantities. A man may make contracts to-day for the supply of more oil next month than it is possible to have brought over the railroads, and he will have no difficulty in doing it if he just employs a dozen men to run around among brokers and make contracts with each. And in that way he can without any trouble raise the price of oil perhaps fifty or one hundred per cent. There is no trouble in the operation, because the bondman is under penalties to deliver oil upon a certain day, and he renders it impossible to deliver it on that day. Then why, your Honor, is it not done? why do not men make fortunes in this way. Why, this person will have gathered together immense quantities of oil—so far he has nominally made hundreds of thousands of dollars—but the question is how is he to realize his dollars? Why, by selling. But the moment he attempts to sell, down tumbles his price and the value of his oil.

Now, here were these men in the "corner," and they were in the very position of men who had made a "corner." Bunker Bros. were struggling under their load; they could not travel the weary way—they were afraid they would break. There was one other man whom these men suspected of selling them out; he was the man who was to take advantage of the top wave and sell out—thus break the "corner" and ruin the others. Now, equivocal as that dispatch might have seemed, when I read it before, if your Honor will apply that key to the suggestion, you will have the true condition of affairs. "Bunker Bros. have informed"—who? Why, informed Augustus Tack, his co-conspirator, of his inability to proceed on the weary journey. "But we have the inside track." That is the first intimation of what is coming. And now the question is, "What action are we to take on this information. We have one of two courses; either to bolster up Bunker Bro. & Co., and carry him through the trouble, and oil will go up, or let him go down, and then oil will come down." And now that is the operation, and the question is, "Will oil go up or down." Then comes the information that Pittsburgh contains a Judas Iscariot. That is the man who is going to break them up, to sell them out. The question is, "What are we to do." And then comes in the compliment to the pluck of the New Yorkers: "We cannot blame the New Yorkers, they have been relieved of weighty loads" and "Pittsburgh possesses a Judas Iscariot," and "don't for the life of you intimate the contents of this."

Now, my friend [Mr. Cassidy] asks, was there any "corner." Why, that which I have just read shows you the danger which was apprehended from this somebody who was going to break down the market. And they and Chalk are to take ten thousand barrels each. For what purpose? Because they are afraid their "corner" may break, and then down comes the oil, and the poor man will have his light at a fair and legitimate price.

Now, Mr. O'Connor has stated that this was the common talk about these "corners." In this connection, it may be proper for us to inquire, what was the effect of these "corners" upon legitimate trade. And I may be here permitted to read a short article upon the subject, which expresses in much more forcible language than I could express it, what I would here say on the subject. I read it, not as authority, but as the opinion of one who knows thoroughly the matter of which he speaks.

It is as follows:—"It is manifest from the fact that this 'corner' in petroleum must have been undertaken just after the crash of the 'corner' in breadstuffs, that the whole country is being subjected to a series of such operations, and that the moment the speculators leave one article of sale they fasten upon another, to be wooed in the same way for victimizing the public. Whenever independent journals denounce such nefarious combinations, they are met with the statement that these things are all regulated by supply and demand, when we have the evidence before us that the high prices are artificial. It should be everywhere held that these movements are in no respect different from ordinary gambling. They obstruct the regular and legitimate movements of trade, and the men who engage in them deserve no support or sympathy from business men. We regret that the petroleum interest has been seized upon to serve their purposes, as whatever they touch in this way cannot fail to be injured by them. The trade has been doing very well since the great speculation in oil stock exploded, and we had hoped that the business was freed finally from such things."

Mr. Cassidy—Will you state your author?

Mr. White—My author is the New York Times, if my friend wants to hear it; but I think the article speaks for itself.

District Attorney Mann [to Mr. Cassidy]—Suppose Mr. White says it.

Mr. White—I do not say it, but I do not want to claim the credit of saying that which is said so well by another.

Judge Ludlow—That applies to all "corners"—whether they buy for a rise or a fall.

Mr. White—Undoubtedly it does, sir; and whether men buy for a rise or for a fall, they are, equally, criminals in the eye of the law, unless it is a legitimate operation; I do not say—far be it from me—that it is criminal for any man, or set of men, to look at the production of the market, and judge from that whether oil is going up or down, and make their contracts accordingly; but I do say, may it please the Court, that it strikes at the very heart's blood of trade and commerce, to allow a set of men to bring about this state of thing by their own combination and their own option. I am not to be told, that a man has not the right to buy when he pleases and sell when he pleases. Why undoubtedly he has; and any man who looks at the general fountains of trade and commerce, and buys that article, which he believes is going to be scarce, is thereby doing that which is of the utmost benefit. He is doing that which Joseph did in Egypt—making wise provision for the scarcity that is coming—and by that act proves himself a public benefactor. But when a man goes into the markets, and in conjunction with others, gets control of articles which are limited in their supply, and causes a rise and fall in their price, he is robbing the public. I do not care for what purpose it is done—the guilt, the crime lies in this state of things—the crime lies in combining by undue means; and combination is always "undue means" where it prejudices third parties and puts them in the hands of thieves.

Now, whenever men combine to control the markets and compel a rise or fall in prices independent of the supply, I say they are criminals and are liable to be indicted for conspiracy.

Now, I ask my friends to go into court and say they have not done that thing. I have presented to your Honor a case in which I think the evidence is very different from that which was given in the case of the man Brotherton to whom I have referred—I have presented a very strong case—one very rarely met with in a court of justice. It is a case of secret crime, in which we have to pick up our evidence and information where we can get it.

Now, what has been the answer of the other side? Why, sir, one of the most shameless attacks upon this man they had robbed that I ever heard in a court of justice. Neither my colleagues nor myself interfered, as we might have done, to protect the witness on the stand; and, sir, let those who can feel proud of that cross-examination—there is one man who has no reason to be ashamed of it. But they brought out of this man that which he might well boast of, that he was at the head of one of the largest banking institutions in Pittsburgh; that there he had settled millions and millions of dollars of accounts without a cent out of its place; that he had won the highest compliment that could be paid to an individual; that the Treasurer of the United States had complimented him and returned the thanks of the nation to him for the services he had rendered. That is what they got out of him by that cross-examination. And we knew what was coming, and did not interfere because we knew it. I think it due to ourselves to state here the reason why we did not interfere to protect this gentleman from what I think was an insult to him, but which I think recoiled upon the heads of these defendants in their efforts to rob and injure him.

I have no more to say, sir. I leave this case with you, and I ask that these men may have an opportunity to do that which they have said they wish to do, but have thus far shown no inclination to do, namely: to go before a jury and clear themselves. I will say for myself and my client that he would be glad even now to pocket his losses could he have his faith in these men restored—that he thinks more of the betrayal of his faith in them than he does for the money he has lost in this transaction.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DR. J. SARGENT'S
FAMILY MEDICINES.
DR. JOHN SARGENT'S
Anti-Dyspeptic and Liver Pills.
A CERTAIN CURE FOR
Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Sick Head-Ache, Colds, Costiveness, &c.

THE EXTRAORDINARY AND increasing demand for my ANTI-DYSPEPTIC AND LIVER PILLS, has induced me to make them more public, in order that their usefulness may be more extensive, and would earnestly beg of those who have tried other medicines and not experienced the relief they anticipated, to try, for once, SARGENT'S ANTI-DYSPEPTIC AND LIVER PILLS. There are no other Pills yet compounded which have given such universal satisfaction, nor do any other Pills meet the requirements of the household as do these.

I cannot, of course, enumerate the diseases for which these Pills are beneficial, but whenever a cathartic is necessary, they will effect a speedy and permanent cure. They remove from the blood all corrupt humors, which are always the cause of the disease; they open those excretory vessels which empty into the bowels; they give a healthy action to the liver, enabling it to throw off all corrupt humors; they promote the secretion of bile, aid digestion, purify the blood, and will, in a short time, restore the body to a state of sound health.

DYSPEPSIA.—This distressing malady—so prevalent in our country—is caused by a want of tone in the stomach, the usual symptoms of which are as follows: a pain or uneasiness upon pressure below the sternum or breast bone, sometimes attended with a sour eructation (water brash or heart-burn); a disposition to vomit, flushes of heat preceding from the stomach, inconstantly circulating through the whole system; loss of memory; a variable, uncertain appetite; great depression of spirits, inclining to melancholy; weariness and great antipathy to exercise.

It is seldom that all the above symptoms are found in the same patient at one time; any of them, therefore, is a sufficient indication of the presence of the disease and need of this medicine.

DR. SARGENT'S ANTI-DYSPEPTIC AND LIVER PILLS, never fail in curing this disease, when taken according to the directions.

I attach a few of the many certificates I could give in such a form as I hope will be satisfactory; but all the certificates I could publish will not inspire half the confidence that one trial will give.

FROM DR. JOHN BUTLER.

LOWELLVILLE, TRUMBULL Co., O.—DR. J. SARGENT—Dear Sir: I regret your want of attention in keeping me supplied with your Anti-Dyspeptic and Liver Pills; they sell so fast in my drug store I cannot keep them. In my practice also, with the best consequences, I find them the most efficient of any pills I have ever used. I have been frequently astonished at the large amount of bile removed by so small a quantity of pills given. I request you to send me a fresh supply immediately, as I have been sometime without. JOHN BUTLER, M. D.

STEUBENVILLE, OHIO.—DR. SARGENT—I write to request you to send me a box of your Anti-Dyspeptic pills by mail. I have not been able to get them since I left Allegheny. I cannot do without them; they have done me so much good. I hope you will send some down to our druggist, so that I can get them when I want. I am sure they will sell fast if known. Your compliance with the above will oblige yours respectfully,
JANE WARLOW.

ROCK POINT, BEAVER CO., PA., February 21, 1866.—DR. SARGENT—Dear Sir: After suffering for two years with Liver Complaint, attended with bad cough, and trying several remedies, I was induced to try your pills, which relieved me immediately, and I take pleasure in recommending them to all suffering from those complaints. Very truly, D. H. MOBLEY.

ROCHESTER, PA., 1867.—DR. SARGENT—I consider that I owe my life to the use of your pills, before I began to use them I was going down very fast. My physician had done all he could, as I still got worse; but when I began to take your pills I got better, and I have no need of the doctor. I am now seventy-five years of age.
ABRAHAM WALKER.

This is to certify that I have used Dr. Sargent's Liver Pills in my family for the last two years, and I consider them the best medicine I have ever used. J. M. DEVINNY.
New Brighton, Pa., July 1, 1867.

DR. SARGENT'S ANTI-DYSPEPTIC AND LIVER PILLS are to be had of all Druggists—both sugar coated and plain. Be sure and call for Dr. Sargent's Anti-Dyspeptic and Liver Pills, and take no other.

DR. SARGENT'S
COUGH SYRUP.
An Old Preparation for the complete cure of COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, CROUP, DIFFICULTY OF BREATHING, ASTHMA, QUINSY, PHTHISIC, ACUTE AND CHRONIC BRONCHITIS, NIGHT SWEATS, BLEEDING OF THE LUNGS, AND ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS, THROAT AND CHEST.
DR SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP contains nothing injurious, but can be taken by the smallest infant with perfect safety. It does not dry up a cough as most of the quack preparations do that are now flooding the country, but loosens the phlegm from the mucous surface of the Bronchial tubes, and assists in its expectoration, at the same time allaying the cough and relieving all pain from the chest and lungs.
DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP is of incalculable benefit in Whooping Cough, and especially effective for Croup. No more efficient and reliable remedy ever yet discovered—one dose taken according to directions often saving the life of the child.
Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. Buy a bottle and give it a trial.

DR. JOHN SARGENT'S
Diuretic or Back-ache Pills, FOR ALL DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.
These Pills have now been before the public in this neighborhood for upwards of thirty two years, during which time they have been eminently successful in the removal and cure of the dangerous and troublesome diseases, which often baffle the skill of the best Physicians. This fact is well attested by the number of wonderful cures they have effected, some of long standing. A sense of duty and the urgent request of those who have experienced the beneficial effects of the medicine, impels me to make it more generally useful, by giving it a much wider circulation. Believing that there is no other medicine published for these complaints that can be carried to every man's door without the aid of a physician; and it is a well known fact that there are thousands who are either too far removed from or are unable to procure the aid of one who will be of service to them.
The disease commonly called Back-ache, and to which these Pills are peculiarly applicable, is found to exist in the aged or infirm, the laborious and the sedentary. It is caused by obstructions or chronic inflammation of the kidneys, ureter, bladder, &c., and is known by a depressed pain in the small of the back, sometimes extending round the loins to the abdomen; or a dull, heavy, or numbing pain, extending from the back down the lower extremity of the right abdomen to the inner part of the thigh. Great difficulty is experienced in voiding the urine, and many persons afflicted with this troublesome complaint are unable to endure violent exercise; many, when stooping, have danger in assuming an erect position. Having had numerous opportunities for forty years of testing the virtue and efficacy of this medicine, and with the advice of those who have experienced the good effects of it, I now respectfully submit it to the public, believing that it will be generally beneficial. The few certificates I publish are from this immediate neighborhood, and can be referred to at any time.

CERTIFICATES.

SIR—This is to inform you that I was very much afflicted with violent pain in the back, and great difficulty in voiding urine. I was recommended by Mr. McClintock to take some of your Diuretic Pills, which I did, and was perfectly cured, and I have not felt any of the complaint since, being eighteen months.
MERCER COUNTY. JOHN STEWART.

DR. SARGENT—Sir: I have to inform you that I believe I owe my life entirely to taking some of your Pills. I have been taking medicine for several days from my physician without effect, being confined to bed and in great agony, when my husband applied to you and was told by you that I had the gravel. I took the first dose as you directed, and experienced relief, and my disorder left me after taking the remainder.
ALLEGHENY. MARGARET BEAT.

DR. SARGENT—I was for a long time afflicted with what I thought to be rheumatism in my back, so that when I stooped down I could scarcely right myself again. I was advised to try your Pills, which cured me, and I have not felt it since. I have since given a great many away to others, who have found the same benefit.
J. WILLIAMSON.

CROWN'S BOTTOM INN.
SIR—I was for a long time afflicted with a pain in my back. I was advised by Mr. Williamson to try your Pills. He gave me some, which completely cured me. I have since obtained two boxes, and gave them to others in our town with the same effect, and if you had charged ten dollars for them I would have paid it cheerfully.
LEWIS HUMISTON.

AKRON, OHIO.
SIR—I have been afflicted with the complaint described in your papers for the last five years, during which time I have tried everything I could hear of without effect, till I met with your Pills; I have now taken half a box, and want more to continue taking them, as I feel better now than I have felt for four years, and I have no doubt the next box will cure me.
J. MILLER.

ALLEGHENY.
SIR—I have been troubled with back ache for four or five years, so that at times I could not rise up or lie down without pain. I took part of a box of your pills, which completely cured me, and I have been at perfect ease ever since. I do, therefore, confidently recommend them to others.
PETER CRUMPTION.

ALLEGHENY.
DR. SARGENT—SIR: I take this opportunity to state that your Diuretic Pills are the most effectual medicine for the back ache I ever met with. I can confidently recommend them from experience.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

The River.

Just as usual the Monongahela river got up a rise yesterday, it being Sunday, and put more activity among river men than there has been for months past. The general thaw and light rains of the latter part of last week commenced to swell the Youghiogheny and Monongahela rivers on Saturday afternoon and night, and by six o'clock last evening there were seven feet of water in the channel and steadily rising. Nearly all of the passenger and tug boats already freighted and ready for the rise got up steam, and while many departed for points below others will be ready to draw in their lines to-day. Should the river maintain its depth many thousand bushels of coal will be run out this week in barges and boats. Inasmuch as coal is commanding over fifty cents per bushel down the river, owing to its great scarcity, the present rise will prove a blessing of Providence to the people in those towns and cities. The weather last evening showed some signs of another cold snap, but we ardently hope that the thaw will continue sufficiently long to enable all the coal ready for shipment to get out. The rise will afford employment to thousands of idle men, and will give fresh life to trade in this city by throwing vast sums of money into circulation.

The Allegheny river commenced rising last night, and from the rains here and those reported above, we can safely anticipate that this stream will do fully as well towards helping on navigation in the Ohio river, as the Monongahela is now doing.

THE COURTS,

District Court—Full Bench.

SATURDAY, Dec. 21.—In the case of James Clegg and other owners of the steam tug "Mary Davage" vs. William H. Brown, the jury found for the plaintiffs the sum of $2,554.07.

The argument list will be taken up Monday (to-day) at nine o'clock. Jury trials have been adjourned till the first Monday in January.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Stowe.

SATURDAY, Dec. 21.—A number of defendants convicted during the term were called for sentence.

John Burns, aged sixteen years, was first on the list. He had been arraigned on four indictments for larceny, on one of which he was acquitted, pleading guilty to the other three. An earnest appeal on behalf of the prisoner induced His Honor to defer sentence in order to consider whether it would be proper to send him to the House of Refuge instead of the Penitentiary.

Thomas Bogue, a man well up in years, convicted of the larceny of pig metal from Shoenberger & Co., was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years and three months.

Henry Bell, colored, for the larceny of a coat, was sentenced for a term of one year and three months.

Isaac Williams, colored, was sentenced for a like term for stealing a box of tobacco.

John Murray, convicted of the larceny of a cow and pigs from Mr. Boyd, of Tarentum, although he shed tears, said he was innocent as a child, and that the witnesses against him had committed purjury, was sentenced to the Penitentiary for three years and nine months.

Edward Curran, convicted of a felonious assault and battery upon Michael Dougherty, at a tavern in the vicinity of Noblestown, was sentenced for three years and six months.

John Acky, a German, in the country only since March last, who had been convicted of the larceny of $150 from his room-mate, was sentenced for one year and six months.

John McCarty, for committing an aggravated assault and battery upon John McCombs, at the house of Mrs. Campbell, in McClure township, a few days since, was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty dollars and to undergo three months' imprisonment in the jail.

William Soles, of Port Perry, convicted of an assault and battery on Mrs. Wilkinson, was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty five dollars.

Common Pleas—Judge Stowe.

SATURDAY, December 21.—In session for miscellaneous business.

DIVORCE CASES.

Hoffstott vs. Hoffstott. In divorce. J. W. Murray, Esq., appointed Commissioner to take testimony.

Jane Wagner vs. John A. Wagner. Libel in divorce a vinculo, &c. Libellant set forth that she was lawfully joined in marriage with John A. Wagner March 7th, 1857, and from that time until the first of April, 1867, lived and cohabited with him, and in all respects demeaned herself as a kind and affectionate wife, but that Wagner, on the date stated, April 1st, 1867, deserted her and has continued to absent himself from her habitation. A subpœna was awarded.

Lottie Williams, by her next friend D. L. Smith vs. John B. Williams. Libel in divorce. Decree granted, and parties severally at liberty to marry in like manner as if they had never been married.

The argument list will be regularly taken up on Monday next, 30th inst., but Judge Stowe will sit on Thursday next to hear motions.

Anniversary and Sociable.

The first anniversary of the Sabbath School of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, O. S., (Rev. A. M. Milligan, pastor,) of this city, now worshiping at the hall of the Fourth ward school, was held on Thursday afternoon, 19th inst. There was a full attendance of teachers and scholars, all anxious to make the first anniversary one long to be remembered. The exercises were opened by the school singing the Twenty-third psalm, and prayer by Rev. A. M. Milligan. A short and fitting address was made by Mr. George, student of the R. P. Theological Seminary of Allegheny.

The pastor then interested the school by a few appropriate remarks, after which refreshments became the order of the day. After all had participated freely and enjoyed half an hour in social intercourse, the school was dismissed, each going away heart and hand full.

About half past seven in the evening the congregation and numerous friends assembled at the hall to spend the evening socially. Judging from the appearance of the countenances of those assembled, we would say each understood what he came for—such a general social "mix up" we have never seen before.

The exercises were formally opened by singing, and prayer by Rev. Dr. Sproull, of Allegheny. A very fitting address of welcome was then delivered by Rev. A. M. Milligan. The meeting was then declared open for social enjoyment, in which all freely participated, laying all formality aside. A splendid collation was then served, after which Prof. Jas. R. Newell recited several pieces in his accustomed entertaining style, one particularly, entitled "William Tell," was very pleasing. A very beautiful tea set, which we understand was purchased from Messrs. Jas. R. Reed & Co., Fifth street, was then, in behalf of the ladies of the congregation, presented to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Milligan. Rev. Milligan, in a short and appropriate speech, thanked the ladies for their kindness. The congregation then united their voices in singing the doxology, and Rev. Johnson, of Baltimore, pronounced the benediction.

The assembly slowly dispersed, each one seeming reluctant to leave. The exercises of the evening were also enlivened by vocal and instrumental music. Everything passed in the most harmonious and pleasing manner. We admire the progressive movements of this young congregation, it only having been organized about one year, and having increased from sixty to about one hundred and seventy-five members. We understand a lot has already been purchased on which, at an early day, they purpose erecting a house of worship.

Malicious Mischief.

James Connor, a conductor on the Penn Street Passenger Railway, made information before Mayor McCarthy Saturday evening, charging John Wilkinson with malicious mischief. It appears that Wilkinson, after having taken a larger quantity of bad whisky aboard than he could well carry, got aboard of Connor's car. He had been in the car but a few moments when he became boisterous and disorderly and was very properly ejected by the conductor. This proceeding did not tend to quiet him, but on the other hand appeared to increase his rage, as he made an attack upon the windows of the car, five of which he demolished with his fist, before he could be stopped. A warrant was issued.

Held for Court.—Joseph Sands, charged before Alderman Thomas with assault and battery, on oath of Patrick Hughes, after a hearing on Saturday, was held to bail in the sum of $300 for his appearance at Court.

Thomas Sullivan, charged with perjury, on oath of Thomas McQuade, had a hearing before Alderman Thomas on Saturday, when he was held to bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at Court.

Pugilistic.—Ellen Flynn and Charlotte Lewis, residents of the Fifth ward, gave a pugilistic entertainment on Penn street Saturday free of charge. Ellen it appears came out of the "muss" second best, and appealed to the "majesty of the law" for redress. She made information before Alderman Taylor, charging Charlotte with assault and battery. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Larceny.—Conrad Schad made information before Alderman Thomas, Saturday, charging Herman Ross with larceny. The prosecutor alleges that the defendant carried off from his premises a barrel worth five dollars and has refused to return the same. A hearing was had in the case, which resulted in the defendent being held to bail for his appearance at Court.

The Lincoln Family Fund—A Pertinent Query.

We cheerfully make room for the following communication from one of our leading citizens, relative to the fund subscribed some time ago for Mrs. Lincoln and family by patriotic citizens throughout the country:

PITTSBURGH, PA., Dec. 21, 1867.

EDITORS GAZETTE: I desire through the columns of your paper to bring to the notice of the people certain facts, without comment or note further than to remark that this letter was not written until the usual means had failed to get a satisfactory reply to the letters of inquiry herein referred to.

In the GAZETTE, some weeks ago, the question was asked, "What has been done with certain funds contributed by the patriotic citizens of old Allegheny county for the relief of the family of the late President Lincoln, immediately after his assassination?" This money was sent to Mr. Benjamin B. Sherman, of New York city, who was Treasurer of the fund. He was endorsed by Mr. Horace Greeley, through the columns of the Tribune, and in other more direct ways. With these credentials the Treasurer here soon collected quite a snug sum, $200 of which was given in small subscriptions—none over $100, by reason of limitation. No report has ever reached this part of the country as to the distribution, and as there had been ample time, a well known citizen of Pittsburgh wrote Mr. Greeley, asking as politely as possible why such report had not been made, and in reply received the following, which I hope is not a sample of his style of replying to courteous letters:

OFFICE OF THE TRIBUNE,
NEW YORK, Oct. 15, 1867.

SIR: You ask me to tell you what Mr. Benj. B. Sherman has done with certain moneys. Have you asked him that question? If not, I suggest you should do so before inquiring of me.

Mr. Sherman is an eminent merchant of our city. I contributed to the fund of which he was treasurer, and have no doubt that every cent of it was paid over by him to Mr. Lincoln's heirs.

Yours, HORACE GREELEY.

This letter, although obviously of a most satisfactory (?) nature, did not suffice, so Mr. S. was written to, and as no answer came, a second and third letter was written, each being treated as the first.

Why is this? Who will reply? Will Mr. Greeley or Mr. Sherman.

ARGUS.

Dedication.

The congregation of the Second Methodist Church, Allegheny, Rev. S. F. Crowther, Pastor, having completed the lecture room of their new church edifice, on Rebecca street, yesterday dedicated it to the service of Almighty God, with appropriate exercises.

The membership of this church, numbering in all not more than fifty persons, certainly deserve great credit for the energy and perseverance with which they have prosecuted their labors, and the lecture room in which they worshipped yesterday will, we think, be a standing lesson to them never to despair in a good cause.

It is entered by a broad passage way, on either side of which are the class rooms of the church, and is a well lighted, cozy and comfortable place, neatly fitted up throughout. The pews are painted a light color and partly grained, matting covers the floor in the aisles, handsome bronze chandeliers hang from the ceiling, two large "Morning Glory" stoves give out a cheerful warmth, the minister's platform tastefully carpeted, and in the centre of which is a small carved Bible stand, grained in imitation of oak, occupies a recess built in the rear wall, and the room affords comfortable seating for about three hundred persons.

The choir, led by Mr. Watt, Miss Fisher presiding at the organ, enlivened the exercises at intervals with excellent music, and at the close of each service during the day the financial condition of the enterprise was presented to the people, and a considerable sum was realized to aid in relieving it from embarrassment. A number of ministers were present on the occasion, assisting in the services, which were commenced by Rev. Alexander Clark, of Pittsburgh, who preached in the morning from the text, "Hosanna to the King of Israel who cometh in the name of the Lord." This was followed in the afternoon at 2½ o'clock by Dr. Collier, preaching the regular dedicatory sermon from the 87th Psalm, 6th verse, after which Dr. Reeves, in accordance with their beautiful Disciplinary ceremony, consecrated the place to the use and service of the Blessed Master and Head of the Church.

In the evening Dr. Reeves closed the exercises by a logical and powerful sermon, and the congregation dispersed, rejoicing at the success which had thus far been the reward of their labors.

Larceny by Bailee.—Minerva Ann Johnston made information before Alderman Thomas, Saturday, charging Rachel Anderson with larceny by bailee. The prosecutrix alleges that the defendant obtained several articles of clothing from her as bailee and refused to return the same. A warrant was issued, the defendant arrested and held to bail for her appearance at Court.

Upset her Stand.—On Saturday last a huge piano box tumbled out of a furniture wagon in which it was being hauled on top of the stand of an Irish apple woman in the market. It smashed her establishment and scattered her apples in all directions, but luckily for the old lady she escaped without being struck, the box merely grazing her head.

Bursted.—The water main, on Congress street, between Franklin street and Pennsylvania avenue, bursted yesterday morning, and if not repaired soon will seriously damage the street at that point.

Still Another Railroad Accident.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BOSTON, December 22.—The express train from New York for Boston ran into a freight train this morning near Natick. James McCurdy, brakeman, is supposed to be fatally injured. Several passengers were more or less hurt, none seriously.

—The Tribune's special says: It comes out from Mr. Stanton's friends direct, that the late Secretary, in explanation of his remaining in the Cabinet after he had discovered his continuing there was against Mr. Johnson's wish, says that he would long since have resigned his position as Secretary of War but for the fact that he received a letter, signed by most of the Republican Senators and Representatives in Congress, requesting him to remain in the Cabinet, as they alleged, for the good of the country and the preservation of the Republican party.

—It appears that the Danish Commissioners who came to see about the details of the treaty for the purchase of St. Thomas, but having no precise conception of the way in which such things are managed, seemed to entertain very little doubt but that the treaty would be accepted and ratified without trouble. In this respect, however, they have been considerably deceived, and the spirit in which the Russian treaty has been accepted by the House makes them nervous about the ratification of the purchase.

—Four large distilleries were seized in Philadelphia on Saturday by Collector John Miller, acting under the orders of the Revenue Board, on a charge of defrauding the Government by false returns.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, December 21, 1867.

—The Secretary of the Treasury, it is semi-officially announced, in view of the depression in business circles, and out of deference to Congress, will not insist on any further contraction of the currency for some time to come. This idea, however, that to stop the moderate contraction allowed under the law will relieve the depression in business is a questionable one. It is the want of confidence more than anything else, perhaps, that is the trouble. That want locks money up, whether there be much or little of it—and thus it is made scarce. The present issue of our paper money is no doubt abundant for all purposes when circumstances shall be such as to encourage and recognize industry and production, and call it forth. Of the finance report and funding bill of Mr. Sherman, submitted to the Senate on Tuesday, the New York Times says they are not received with much favor. The Times says: "The domestic brokers in the public funds, and the brokers in the foreign exchange regard the funding scheme as complicated, if not impracticable, and for the most part, uncalled for, and imply a menace to holders of 5 20s with popular opinion in the separate States which may create a pressure for taxing the bonds." A uniform and simple 5 per cent. funding scheme has not been without favor in the past, but as the Times remarks, "since that time funding has gone on rapidly in the original 5-20 form, and now that we are closely approaching the end, and the proposition to consolidate is made to embrace extraneous questions of State taxation, currency contraction or expansion, and of the reimbursement of the principal of the original bonds fifteen or eighteen years before they fall due, we doubt whether public opinion, or any more than Congress, is so well prepared for it as in the spring of 1866."

—Registered Five Twenties of 1862 sell at least four per centum lower than coupon bonds of the same variety. This is because that foreign market, which has such a fondness for these old Five Twenties, wishes only for the coupon species. The difference in price between the registered and coupon gold-bearing bonds of the remaining varieties is smaller. As the time for paying the coupons of the Seven Thirties of June, 1865, is at hand, it is well for banks and other purchasers and collectors of these coupons, to be on their guard against counterfeiters. The figures of these counterfeit coupons ($35,50), are of a different shape and color from the genuine, and the borders of these coupons are also different from the genuine. So far as the counterfeits have been presented at the department they have been numbered with some integral number of the following thousands, viz:—68,000, 140,000, 160,000 and 180,000.

—The amount of circulation allowed to the national banks is more restricted than by any other banking law ever imposed by the general Government or by the several States. Heretofore circulation has been permitted at the rate of two or three dollars for one of capital. Under the present national system it is in all cases less than dollar for dollar, or in no case more than 90 per cent., and for banks of large capital very much less. If we are to have banks at all they must be allowed some circulation.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, December 21, 1867.

CRUDE—The crude market has been very dull throughout the past week, the sales in the aggregate being very light, and while spot oil, if anything is a shade lower, future deliveries remain unchanged. Sale of 168 bbls, on spot, at 7c; and 4000 bbls for March and April, seller's option, at 7½c. As we noted in our report of yesterday, there is some inquiry for March and April, and the offerings to sell for that particular delivery are not very numerous. The receipts during the week have been unusually large, reaching over sixteen thousand barrels, the largest arrivals during any one week for several months—the arrivals reported to-day run over five thousand barrels. At this writing (four p. m. Saturday evening) it has commenced raining, and the prospects for a bulk rise are encouraging. We are now in a manner independent of the river, as the Valley Railroad has facilities for moving from three to four thousand barrels per day, and this, in the present condition of the market, will fully meet the requirements of the trade.

REFINED—There is no improvement to note in the tone of the market for bonded oil and notwithstanding prices are almost unprecedently low, the tendency still seems to be doward. We can report a sale of one thousand barrels for all this month, buyer's option, at 22c, and one thousand barrels for the first half of January, same option, and same price.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil by the Allegheny Valley Railroad, since our last report, were as follows:

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, December 21, 1867.

We can report no improvement in trade, and the general markets have been unusually dull during the week which has just closed. The demand for almost everything seems to be very much restricted, and for some articles prices are lower, though, as a general thing, there have been no very material changes.

GRAIN—There is a steady demand for Winter Wheat, the mills taking all that offers at $2,50@2,55 for Red Winter, and $2,60@2,65 for do White. Oats very dull, with a drooping tendency; we now quote at 65@66c, on track, and 68@70c, in store. There is an improved demand for new Corn, and we now quote at $1,05@1,10—sale of 1 car Ear at $1,06; old Corn is quoted at $1,15@1,18. Rye is dull and nominal at $1,35@1,40. Barley is scarce and in demand at $1,60@1,65.

FLOUR—The Flour market is quiet and unchanged. We now quote at $10@10,75 for Spring; $11,75@12,50 for Winter, and $14,50@15,50 for fancy brands. Rye Flour, $8,50 per bbl, and Buckwheat $5,25@5,50 per cwt.

MILL FEED—Is coming in pretty freely, and the market is a little dull. Sale of 1 car Seconds at $1,75, and 1 car Middlings at $2,30. Bran is quoted at $1,60@1,65.

APPLES—Firm and with diminished arrivals and an improved demand, prices are a shade higher, ranging from $3@4,50 per bbl.

POTATOES—In better demand, and the market is firmer. Sale of two thousand bushels prime Peach Blows, to go to Philadelphia, at $1,10.

BUTTER—Prime to choice Roll Butter is in good demand and sells readily at 38@40c.

EGGS—Scarce, and fresh packed are held pretty firmly at 35c.

LARD—Is quoted at 13¼@14½c.

LARD OIL—Is still quoted by manufacturers at 88@90c for No. 2, and $1,10@1,12 for No. 1.

DRESSED HOGS—Packers are paying from 8¼ to 8½c—sales in a retail way at 8[illegible].

DRIED FRUIT—Continues dull but unchanged; small sales at 7¼@8½c for Apples, and 11@12½c for Peaches.

CHEESE—Sales of Hamburg at 15@16c, and Factory and Goshen at 17@15c.

MANUFACTURED BY THE
PITTSBURGH BRICK MACHINE
AND
BRICK MANUFACTURING CO.
This Machine takes the clay direct from the bank, (without the preparation, by soaking necessary for "soft mud" machines,) and tempers it thoroughly, pressing in steel moulds, brick stiff enough to be packed up eight high in the yard as made. For cutting with the trowel, bearing hard usage, and making a strong, true wall, there are no better brick known. The cost of making them by this machine is from 95 cents to $1.10 per 1,000, according to the rates of wages. This we guarantee. The machine is built entirely of iron and steel; and in the best style for strength and permanent use in working clay. Apply for circulars, giving full information, at the office,

TO GLASS MANUFACTURERS.
THE UNDERSIGNED having secured the sole Agency for the sale of the celebrated
COPLEY POT CLAY,
Are now prepared to furnish it in any quantity to those wishing to procure this superior article. During fifteen years' use of this clay we have arrived at such proportions as we believe makes it a better article for pots than any in the market, we having secured an average stand of six months for each pot, and some lasting as long as eight and ten months. We will furnish receipts for the proportion of the mixture of this Clay to persons purchasing. The Clay is ground and moulded in bags for delivery.

RIVER NEWS.

The Monongahela River commenced to swell again yesterday, and in the afternoon the pier marks indicated five feet and still rising. From the amount of rain that fell during Saturday night and yesterday, it is confidently expected that there will be at least ten feet at this point by this evening or to-morrow morning, and it is probable that there will be a good coal boat rise. The rise, thus far, has been in the Monongahela, and it is not likely that the Allegheny will break up this time. The weather at this writing, (2 p. m., Sunday) is warm and blustery, and the wind appeared to be shifting around to the west.

The towboat Diamond succeeded in reaching the wharf yesterday. It is said that she had considerable difficulty in butting through the ice at Black's Island on Saturday. We have no difinite advices, but it is probable that the gorges between here and Wheeling have been broken before this.

The J. N. McCullough was due here from Cincinnati last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning. This is her regular day for leaving for Parkersburg, but if she cannot get ready in time, the Leni Leoti, Capt. Hamilton, will leave in her place.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The Argosy will positively leave for New Orleans this evening, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind, and act accordingly.

L. VANDERGRIFT, Commander.

FOR NEW ORLEANS.—The passenger steamer "Selma" Capt. Thomas Rogers, will leave this Port for New Orleans, and all intermediate points, Tuesday at 12 M.

Capt. J. W. Loughrey has chartered the Belle to Capt. W. L. Maddy for the Kanawha river and Cincinnati packet trade.

The towboat Jas. Gilmore swung and broke her wheel on the dam at the foot of "Bianny" on Friday last.

The Grey Eagle left for Parkersburg on Saturday with a good trip. She will be back so as to leave on time Wednesday, providing the river and weather is favorable.

The Mary Davage and barges, in command of Capt. Hugh Campbell, will positively leave for New Orleans to-day without fail, and shippers should bear this in mind. Mr. B. F. Whiting has charge of the office.

The Kate Robinson, Capt. Robt. Robinson, is filling up rapidly, and will take her departure for Cincinnati and Louisville to-day. The Maggie Hays, Capt. Barney Martin, is next in turn after the Kate.

The Argosy, being unable to complete her cargo, did not get off on Saturday for New Orleans as expected. She will leave to-day positively—Capt. Lew Vandergrift in command, and Mr. W. H. Scott in the office.

The Isabella has laid up in the Missouri at Boonville, Captain Dozier having decided not to come down this year.

The St. Patrick has abandoned the Vicksburg trade, and Memphis is now without a packet in that trade. The St. Patrick enters the Memphis and Evansville trade, Capt. Huls commanding.

There were thirty-two coal barges laying in the mouth of the Kanawha on Monday, waiting for the ice to disappear from the river, to start down.

ST. LOUIS, December 19.—The River is falling again. Weather moderating. No floating ice in the river, owing to gorges above. No business doing on the wharf, and the boats all removed. There is no prospect of any of the boats that left port this week getting out of the river, and it is more than probable that all have ere this paid off their crews and laid up to await more favorable times. New Orleans freight is being sent hence to Cairo by rail. Only twenty-four inches water reported twenty miles below here, and twenty-seven inches at Hat Island.

The Dubuque and Galena papers are quarreling as to who Mr. Merry is, whose barges and steamer Ocean Wave, bound to New Orleans, have found the bottom of the river above Cairo. The Galena Gazette says: Captain H. Merry is of Dunleith, Jo Daviess county, Illinois. He was formerly a citizen of Galena, where he received much of his business education. He has resided in Dunleith during the last eleven years, where he is now building one of the finest dwelling houses in the country.

On Wednesday afternoon Patrick King, the carpenter, or assistant, on the mail boat Gen. Lytle, at Louisville, fell overboard and was drowned. He was at the wheel-house shifting buckets, and fell into the river. He resided in Cincinnati.

We clip the following items from the Cincinnati Gazette, of Friday:

Thos. Kinsey, pilot, and a portion of the crew of the sunken steamer Leclaire No. 2, arrived here yesterday. Mr. K. reports the steamer not so badly sunken or broken as at first reported, and not so much freight damaged. Her stern lies in good water, and her head is well up. The Silver Cloud No. 2 arrived from New Orleans early yesterday morning, and will lie up for the present. The New State left for Pittsburgh last evening with a light trip. Capt. Ed. Evans, of the Westmoreland, arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday. Capt. John Ferrell arrived on the Silver Cloud, and will have command of the Pine Grove this season.

STEAMBOATS.

FOR NEW ORLEANS.—The Towboat MARY DAVAGE, and Barges Nos. 1 and 2. HUGH CAMPBELL, Commander, will leave as above on THIS DAY, 23d inst., positively. For freight or passage apply on board, or to de21 CHARLES BARNES, Agent.

FOR NEW ORLEANS DIRECT.—The new and splendid side-wheel passenger steamer, SELMA……Capt. THOS. RODGERS, Will leave for the above and all intermediate ports, on TUESDAY, 24th inst., at 12 M. For freight or passage apply on board or to de9 JAMES COLLINS, Agent.

A GREAT FAMILY CONVENIENCE.
A new and novel arrangement for having HOT WATER BOILERS
attached to the back end of common cook stoves, so that the waste blaze which goes up the stove-pipe heats all the water needed in an ordinary sized family, by passing the blaze directly through the boiler, which sits over the pipe hole of the stove. This new arrangement can be put on to any No. 7, 8 or 9 common Cooking Stove, of any manufacture. Any person having a TRIUMPH, VICTORY, BLACK OAK, BEAUTY or UNION STOVE, or almost any other Cook Stove made in the Union, can have Boilers attached to their Stoves, including the Attachment, the Boiler and Lids, and Cock, for the moderate cost of SEVEN DOLLARS, by applying to

ORDINANCES.

A SUPPLEMENT TO AN ORDINANCE passed the 4th day of November, A. D. 1867, entitled "an Ordinance relative to the Laying of Gas Pipe."

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Lawrenceville, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That no other Gas Company shall receive the privilege of introducing gas into said borough in competition with the Lawrenceville Gas Company: Provided, the said Lawrenceville Gas Company will furnish gas to the said borough, and the citizens thereof, at as low rates at all times as those now charged, or that may at any time hereafter be charged, by other companies similarly situated; and provided, further, That the said Lawrenceville Gas Company shall commence and prosecute operations within six months from the passage of this ordinance.

SECTION 2. That when any street, lane or alley of said borough shall be opened by the said Gas Company a distance not exceeding in length 400 feet, for the purpose of laying down, relaying and repairing the pipes as aforesaid, the same shall not be kept open or obstructed for an unnecessary length of time, but shall be enclosed and reclaimed, and all rubbish and dirt occasioned by the opening of any street, lane or alley, as aforesaid, shall be removed by the said Gas Company, at its own proper cost and charges.

SECTION 3. In the opening of any street, lane or alley as aforesaid, the said Gas Company shall use all necessary precautions to protect the lives and property of the citizens from accident and damage. It shall erect or cause to be erected all necessary barricades to prevent all such accidents and damage, and shall not allow any part of its works or apparatus necessary for the preparation of gas to be situate as to endanger the property of any citizen or become a public nuisance.

SECTION 4. That for any violation of the provisions of this ordinance the said Gas Company shall, upon conviction thereof before any Justice of the Peace of the county of Allegheny, forfeit and pay the sum of twenty-five dollars, and for every hour's continuation thereof after such conviction, the further sum of fifty dollars; provided, that the recovery of any such fine or fines shall not bar or in any manner interfere with the right of said borough, or any individual or individuals to maintain a civil action for any damages which they may have sustained by any violation of the provisions of this ordinance by the said Gas Company. de6:

AN ORDINANCE for the Grading, Paving and Setting with Curb of Church street, from its intersection with Dawson street, southwardly, to the Borough line of the Borough of Lawrenceville.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Lawrenceville, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That the Street Committee, in connection with the Borough Regulator, be and they are hereby authorized and empowered to invite and receive proposals for the grading paving and setting with curb that portion of Church street extending from the intersection of said street with Dawson street, southwardly to the borough line, and to contract therefor with the lowest and best bidder, at their discretion.

SECTION 2. That the expense of grading said street shall be paid out of the Borough Treasury as provided for by existing ordinances, and for the purpose of defraying the cost and expense of paving and curbing said street, there be and there is hereby levied a special tax, to be equally assessed on the several lots bounding and abutting on said street, in proportion to the feet front thereon, and comprised and bounding and abutting as aforesaid.

SECTION 3. That so soon as the cost and expense of paving and curbing said street is fully ascertained by the Borough Regulator, it shall be his duty to assess and apportion the same among the several lot-holders owning property on said street, according to the rule herein before indicated, and thereupon to give notice thereof to the owner or owners of said lot or lots respectively, or to the agents or guardians of such owners, and make return of such assessment to the Treasurer of said Borough.

SECTION 4. That it shall be the duty of the Treasurer of said Borough, on the return so made, to cause notice to be given to the parties on whom assessments have been made as aforesaid, that unless the amounts of such assessments are paid to him in thirty days from the date of such notice, he will proceed to collect the same in the manner provided by law.
